WE NOMINATE

Hugh Leonard Rusch, a confirmed Princetonian for the past quarter-century and a pioneer in this community's "survey industry," who at age 68 — a stage of life generally associated with calm and quiet and grandchildren — continues to seek new horizons. Four years after his official "retirement" from the vice-presidency of Opinion Research Corporation of Princeton, Rusch is relishing a new, or second, career as the sparkplug of his own highly specialized firm, Hugh Rusch & Associates, Inc., counselors and consultants in the entwined fields of sales, marketing and public relations.

In opening his Palmer Square offices in 1967 it was Rusch's contention, with the strong assent of physician friends, that "an individual can only slow down a certain amount after being caught up in the momentum of over 40 years in business." However, he did agree that he "would devote at least a quarter of his time" to non-professional activities and to lifelong interests for which "there never seemed to be enough time." In the latter category belongs Rusch's primary avocation and the country's second most popular sport from the point of view of adult participation — fishing.

A frequent contributor to professional and sports journals, ranging from Sales Management and Electrical Engineering to the Atlantic Salmon Journal and Sports Afield, Rusch is undertaking as one of "my-own-time projects" a definitive volume on fishing. This month, in this connection, he received a birthday greeting from Reader's Digest with the latter publication of "Some Choice Lines on Fishing," a compilation of some of President Herbert Clark Hoover's famous quotations on fishing which Rusch started compiling over a decade ago and copyrighted in 1961 with the blessing of the 31st President.

Rusch, holder of engineering patents and active in a half dozen professional societies, has succeeded in applying his research techniques to his hobby interest. A fisherman as long as he can remember, who started as a youngster of 7 along the home town creek and gradually "worked up to" sailfish, tuna and river salmon, he enlisted the services of fishing guides in plotting the most productive periods for a famed Canadian stream — the times of year he is most likely to be unavailable in Princeton. Wall-maps in his office not only account for his business travels but also pinpoint where he has made time for "wetting a line."

A native of Reedsville, Wisc., and a University of Wisconsin classmate of Charles A. Lindbergh and Wayne Morse, Rusch "took a gamble" in the early 1920's and "wound up in surveys for life." Contrary to the counsel of faculty colleagues at Wisconsin, which was to recognize him with a Distinguished Service Citation in 1959, he interrupted a teaching career "to sign up" with the survey firm of A. C. Nielsen Company. He moved on to the Johns-Manville Corporation and the Northern Pump Company of Minneapolis and returned to Nielson for an added eight years of service as executive vice-president before joining Opinion Research shortly after World War II.

For suggesting — by his vigorous example and enthusiasm — that "retirement" can be a beginning rather than an end; for thoroughly enjoying the challenges of new undertakings; for his continuing contributions to the "industry" he helped launch and shape, he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee as

NO PRINCIPAL YET Decision Delayed. The school board is not yet ready to make a decision about the principalship at Princeton High; discussions are still continuing.

Board president John Marks made this announcement Tuesday night to an overflow audience which, for three hours, turned the Princeton Hull School auditorium into a kind of Living Theatre, with more than 30 actor-spectators sitting on stage, others of all ages perched on every inch of window-sill space, still more dangling precariously over the railing of the standing room only balcony, speakers striding up and down the aisles to and from the microphone and even a pair of dogs picking their way over the feet of people who had to sit on the floor.

Dr. Marks confirmed what everybody knew already: that Acting Principal Florence Burke had been offered the job last Friday. And that's where things stand poised at the moment.

Turning to the "strike," Dr. Marks attributed it to student frustration over "business as usual" in the light of national events.

Originally, the school board upheld the students on "strike," he reminded the audience, but later asked for resumption of classes and the preparation of proposals by a student faculty committee when the "strike" did not abate.

He said, that in terminating the "strike" last Thursday, the board rendered a "less positive decision" than many students wanted. He conceded that the student faculty committee should have met with the board to discuss what the committee had worked out.

"The board never said parental desire must prevail, the board never said the students should be allowed to run the school," he stated.

He commended students and faculty for "keeping a potentially explosive situation controlled. "We are divided and in danger of disrupting our community," he warned. "If in Princeton we can't make room for everyone, there is little hope for us in our country."

"A Right to Question." Four board members commented Winthrop Pike, who presented a petition favoring Miss Burke signed by 300 students, stated. "We have a right and obligation to question decisions and recommendations of the superintendent. We should over-ride the superintendent, if necessary."

He also suggested the community question the roles played in the "strike" by administration, faculty, present board members and past board members.

Philip Cruickshank said he objected to pressure on him always to support the superintendent's recommendations. He added, "It has been said that I oppose change. This is not true. Change must come but in a carefully planned manner. Too rapid change is worse than no change at all."

"It was not the board's intent to reject the students out of hand," stated Henry Powsner in reference to the board's strike action. Workshops and meetings were "stimulating and productive" for many students, he said. "It was the first time they'd been turned on, so far as international and national events are concerned." The students grew rapidly in skill — parliamentary maneuvering, and forming a consensus," he said.

Time Was Against Strike. He told the audience that time influenced his decision to vote for ending the "strike." Otherwise, he could have supported the students in almost anything, he said. "If this had been in February, I could have gone on with the 'strike'." Dr. Powsner also denied that he had bowed to community pressures.

William Abrams, the fourth board member who spoke, affirmed his support of Dr. Marks and Superintendent McPherson.

About half a dozen members of a student-elected "Coalition" had asked ahead of time to address the audience, and were the first to speak. They included Mike McConnell, president of Student Council; Matt Neuberg, next year's president; Clifford Kuhn, a Student Council member; Bill Tobolsky, a delegate at large to the Coalition, Hilary Stephens, Coalition secretary and George Barna, of the screening committee for a new principal.

Young McConnell charged the board had not considered the student faculty strike proposal. He proposed one student and one teacher as board members, perhaps with voting privileges, and asked for an elected member of the student body to participate in decision making at the high school. "This is not a 'demand,'" he said.

Students By-passed. George Barna told the audience the student screening committee hadn't been consulted by the board in selecting a principal.

Referring to "strike" workshops, Bill Tobolsky said, "If parents and kids agree that the kids can be released from class to learn something, what right does the board have to prohibit this?" He added that he objected to political pressures" on the board.

Matt Neuberg said student attitudes during the "strike" had shown that students were responsible enough to have some say in governing the high school. "We learned how to work with others we don't agree with, he said.

Hilary Stephens proposed a three track high school: vocational, college bound and a "free school," similar to outdoor class sessions held during the "strike."

Young Kuhn urged a system geared to the capabilities of every student, providing for gradual growth toward increased decision making by the student.

Marvel "Impressed." Board member William Marvel said he was "deeply impressed" with the students remarks and said the board would try to find money to implement some student plans over the summer.

But Alton B. Tomlinson, from the parental side of the audience, took a different view and referred to the student speakers as "well coached."

Young Tobolsky later returned to the microphone and shouted, "Nobody coached me! I wrote my own speech!"

Mr. Tomlinson expressed his "full support" for Miss Burke as principal. Janice Nini, spokesman for students favoring Miss Burke, cited the 100 students who broke away after the "strike" was halted, and said "the board and superintendent should realize 1,500 students were inside. They favor more structure and orderly change."

A petition signed by 770 people who favor Miss Burke was presented by Richard Magee. He said he had obtained the signatures in two and one half days.

"The students must be heard," Mr. Magee said, "but these students won't always be here, and the board must plan long range." He charged that the superintendent doesn't coordinate the efforts of the faculty, and he concluded "The board must restore orderly, directed growth."

Students Seek Active Role. Jane Fremon, senior, who is president of the Girls' Athletic Association, presented a 300 signature student statement in which students ask an active role in changing the school. The statement asked the board to reinstate the in

All School Board Meetings to Be Public

All school board meetings will be public, as soon as board members Withthrop Pike and Henry Powsner can work out procedures.

Board president John Marks made the announcement at Tuesday night's meeting. Legally, the board must meet publicly once a month. But the work-load is so heavy that frequent private, executive shirt-sleeve meetings are held, and crucial decisions are often reached at non-public sessions.

The rumors that have swirled around the Princeton community in recent weeks are traceable to these executive sessions. The public has had no formal way of knowing how board members voted on two crucial questions: the PHS "strike" and the selection of a high school principal.

Nor has the public had any way of knowing whether an elected board member has shifted his views on a fundamental matter, unless the board member chooses to speak out at public meetings.

Dr. Marks told the audience that confidential personnel matters would still be considered in executive meetings.

What Does Youth Want?

The many-faceted youth world is front and center these days, ranging from strike debates at Princeton High School to planning and leading worship services in the churches. From a senior at the high school, Mike McConnell, comes a commentary on what youth hopes to receive from parents, written after conferring among his classmates.

school workshops held during the strike."

"I'm speaking for the 1,100 kids who didn't sign the Burke petition," said Robin Cowan. "It's a cruel thing to do — to make a person principal of this high school. It's too diverse, too big for one person. We didn't strike against the high school or the board and we hope you'll remember that 1,007 students voted to support the strike."

William Cook of the English department, spoke for a group of black teachers who favor sane and honest innovation as opposed to remedial programs that have proved a failure.

Board member Kathleen Edwards suggested classroom credit for students who study the legislature in Trenton. She pointed out that many student requests can't be granted because of legal restrictions.

One speaker was William Burlingham, University undergraduate out on bail for allegedly starting a fire at the Institute for Defense Analyses. He received only a patter of applause in an evening heavy with acclamation.

At the end of the evening, young Neuberg returned to the microphone. "Responsibility for decisions should be in the hands of the board," he stated, "but the students have demonstrated their responsibility and their ability to work with others."

Summer Arts Calendar

The Arts Council of Princeton presents its listing of outstanding events for June and July on page 27 of this issue of TOWN TOPICS. THE WEEK THAT WAS

School System Shaken. Here, from various sources, is a chronology of the events that so shook the school system and the town last week:

Florence Burke was offered the principalship last Friday. The offer was made without the specific recommendation of the superintendent, Philip E. McPherson.

"I did not recommend Miss Burke for the principalship because I did not recommend continuantion of the role of principal," he says. "Instead, I recommend that we develop together — right now, for implementation this fall — a different structure for governing and administering the high school. I wanted this structure to involve faculty and students more significantly in major decision making than is now the case.

Dr McPherson's proposal was sketched out on a black board to the Board of Education in mid-April, in pre-"strike" days when the board thought its major spring occupation would be choosing a principal.

At that meeting and later, in a detailed memo prepared at the board's request, Dr. McPherson proposed a five man governing body for the high school to consist of the principal, the dean of the faculty elected by the faculty; the dean of students elected by the students, a coordinator to tie PHS to the rest of the district, and somebody in charge of educational planning. The superintendent himself would not necessarily be one of the five.

"When I proposed that five-man structure," Dr. McPherson says, "I supported Miss Blake as part of it. I still want her very much as part of the PHS structure."

The board accepted this pentagonal proposal unanimously. But Miss Burke turned it down. The superintendent has not come forward with any other formal proposals.

John Marks, board president, says no candidate enjoyed a clear majority support by the board. A majority of the board last year, had agreed on Raymond F. Male, but lack of certification made him unavailable.

Three to Govern? Without the superintendent's recommendation, the board on its own then developed a proposition for a three-man high school governing body: a principal and both deans.

This proposal was outlined Tuesday, May 19, to a high school faculty meeting, and was received by many on the faculty with considerable surprise and some dismay.

NEW PROFILE IN PRINCETON: This 11-story office building, "The Tower at Princeton," has been designed by Collins, Uhl, Holsington and Anderson for the top of Mt. Lucas Road, where it joins Herrontown Road. The structure is across Herrontown from the new nursing home and directly behind the new Bucci office building on Route 206. It lies in the Township's Service Zone.

TOPICS Of The Town

HIGH-RISE IN TOWNSHIP

New Office Building. An 11-story office building for high-rental, high-rise tenants has been planned for the Township on the upper reaches of Mt. Lucas Road.

Harrison J. Uhl, of the firm of Collins, Uhl, Holsington and Anderson, architects and new owners of the property, outlined plans Tuesday at the monthly press conference held by Township Mayor John D. Wallace. Mr. Uhl had originally broached his plans to Mayor Wallace at the mayor's new "Monday nights with the mayor."

The building is a square 90 feet each way, with 75,000 square feet of net rentable office space. It will be built on a 13-acre partially wooded plot which belonged to the late Dr. C. Cornelia Jaynes, Princeton veterinarian.

A small-animal shelter has been constructed on the part of Dr. Jaynes' land on the corner of Mt. Lucas and Herrontown Roads. The 13-acre parcel makes an L around the corner, and Mr. Uhl said that entrances would come in from both Mt. Lucas and Herrontown.

The structure is expected to cost $3 million, and may bring the Township $105,000 a year in taxes.

It is located in the Township's Service zone where there are no height restrictions except those relating to the square footage of the building and the area of the lot. Since the plot of land is 13 acres, this is not expected to be a problem, Mr. Uhl and Mayor Wallace said that no variances would be required. The architects will, however, have to appear before the Township's site-plan review board, and hopes to do so in about two months, Mr. Uhl said.

He hopes to break ground this fall, with construction completed in 1971, he said.

"We've designed the building as a high-rise so we can preserve more of the wooded open space," Mr. Uhl explained. "We have to provide for at least 500 cars, but we plan to leave four acres untouched, with the parking 'tiered' into the site and green strips between parking rows."

The architects plan to erect the building on a low part of the property. It will not be visible from Nassau Street.

Welcomed as Rateable. Mayor Wallace who welcomed the project as "magnificent for the community and the kind of rateable we need," nevertheless expressed concern about the traffic the 500 cars could produce in the area.

Mr. Uhl said his firm is seeking "high-grade corporate tenants" and has already had discussions with "two or three."

The building has an open design around a service core: full carpeting; floor and ceiling space built on a five-foot modular principle for flexible partitioning; individual controls for heating and air-conditioning; solar bronze glass at the windows with complete janitorial service and all utilities included in the rent.

Mayor Wallace and Administrator Joseph R. Nini pointed out that the building could not have been built without the new regional sewer that the Township will share with Montgomery Township and Rocky Hill. It is scheduled to be in use by August, 1971, Mr. Nini said.

A local group, including Mr. Uhl's partners: Charles Jaffin, the attorney, and several doctors, has purchased the land. The architects own the Professional Building on Route 206. The precise cost of the new acreage hasn't yet been determined, Mr. Uhl said.

Under Dr. Jaynes' will, her land was put in trust. On her death, as land is sold, the proceeds are placed in trust, with the Township to receive one half the income from the trust. So far, the only transaction has been land sold to the Princeton Nursing Home across Herrontown from the proposed building. Income from this sale has brought the Township about $800 a year, Mr. Nini said.

PLAZA HEARING PUT OFF

By Planning Board. Public presentation before the Princeton Regional Planning Board of Princeton University's town remodeling proposals won't be made at next Tuesday's planning board meeting after all.

The board will decide in executive session next Thursday when to hold the public presentation.

The plans, announced last week, are so complex, explained board chairman Hans K. Sander, and involve so many fundamental changes in the community that the board wants a chance to sit down in shirt sleeve session and talk them over privately before scheduling a formal public showing.

The University wants to build a plaza at the foot of University Place between the Princeton Inn and the present railroad station. The station would be moved downstream to a point several hundred feet south.

On the plaza would be a 100 unit apartment building, a new curving University Store, small neighborhood-style shops and maybe eventually, apartments for townsfolk.

For uptown, the University suggests a square bounded by Nassau Street, University Place, an extension of Bayard Lane and a new street parallel to Nassau on the south.

Mr. Sander said he and other planning board members were enthusiastic about the new proposals.

"The plaza can be a first rate addition to Princeton," he said. "a lovely place to meet and talk — the kind of place Princeton has never had enough of. Really thoughtful planning has gone into this thing."

However, Mr. Sander cited the following as things the planners have to talk about in profound detail.

- The relocation of Alexander Street and University Place ("these streets are part of the urban circulation fabric," Mr. Sander observed.)
- Land uses, proposed ones are quite different from what they are in both Borough and Township Master Plans.
- Community facilities: for example, the relocation of the University Store with all its attendant parking.
- Zoning ordinances: they will probably need redrafting.
- Mixed land use: if there is a mix of apartments for townspeople and dormitories for University students, how is the tax pie divided?

"The Planning Board needs to meet by itself to discuss these things and set up criteria by which to judge them," he says, adding his praise for the University's proposals as a way "to connect town and gown."

PRIMARIES TUESDAY

Contest In Township. For the first time in anybody's history, there will be a contest on Primary Day — next Tuesday — in Princeton Township.

But Not Where We Are

Just tell the rain
To go away
And have a
Picnic holiday!

Three straight days of rain at the beginning of the week should be followed by three days of sunshine, the May reports. A bit cooler than usual, too.

That brings us up to the weekend again. By Saturday, it will be on the warm side, and unseasonable warmth at this time of year generally means showers. They may be a part of Sunday's picture — for the third week in a row.

Republicans will be asked to choose between Charles E. Meyer, running as the Regular Organization Republican with the backing of Mayor John D. Wallace and the two Republican Committeemen, Dean Chace and William L. Wilson, and the self styled "maverick" William Cherry, who is also running for re-election to the job of county committeeman in the Township's District Four.

Officials endorsing Mr. Meyer speak of his "business knowledge and interest in our youth", and his concern about open space, the development of the office research zone, and traffic problems.

Mr. Cherry says he wants Township voters to have more choice in the selection of candidates, in both parties, and more voice in major decisions. Referendums on the Township issues are part of his platform.

Democrats in the Township have no contest. Junius ("Jay") Bleiman is the party candidate for Committee and will appear on the ballot unopposed.

Democrats in the Borough, however, will find a contest in three districts for county committee representatives.

Fred Bohen, 128 Fitz Randolph, entered the race this week with a late write-in campaign for county committeeman in District Two. He's too late to appear formally on the ballot.

Mr. Bohen is opposing District Two's incumbent committeeman, Edmond J. Carroll.

"Local district committeemen can and should assert themselves in helping to shape the personalities and issues of elective politics," Mr. Bohen declared in a pre-doorbell-ringing statement.

In District Three in the Borough, Ethel Pankove and Murray Medvin will challenge Philip Carroll and Mrs. Nicholas Bartolino. In District Five, Esther Ann Ryan and Michael Rockland will challenge Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Ferrara.

At the state level, Democrats will choose between incumbent United States Senator Harrison A. Williams Jr. and his challenger, Frank J. Guarini of Jersey City.

Republicans will choose between Nelson G. Gross and James A. Quaremba, both of Ridgewood, for the nomination as U.S. Senatorial candidate on the Republican ticket.

District, of which Princeton is part, Robert G. Andrus of Princeton is challenging Edward A. Costigan of Trenton for the Republican nomination. The winner will face incumbent Congressman Frank Thompson Jr.

Incidentally, Mr. Andrus won't be able to vote: he has revealed that he voted in the 1968 Democratic primary, which makes him ineligible, under the state's election laws, to vote in this year's Republican primary.

"WEDNESDAYS" IN JUNE. Decision June 9. The school board's next public meeting will be held only two weeks from now — on Tuesday, June 9 — and the Wednesday Program will have to wait until then for the fateful decision: will it be continued in 1970-71?

A detailed Wednesday report is available in the schools, and films and a tape will be shown to any group that asks, Mrs. Elaine Solomon told Tuesday night's meeting at Princeton High School. But other events of the evening crowded out a formal report on Wednesday activities.

The Long-Range Planning Committee for the Princeton Regional Schools isn't convinced that a new high school building is necessary, William K. Selden, chairman of the committee, made this admission to a Princeton High School student who asked, after a Long Range report by Mr. Selden, "how long before you'll have a concrete recommendation for a new high school?"

Mr. Selden said he hoped for a formal interim report from his group by September and final recommendations in the spring of 1971.

A 12-Month Year? Such ideas as a 12-month school year, independent learning, and team teaching are coming under the purview of the committee, Mr. Selden reported, with physical facilities far down the list. His group has three sub-committees: governance and finance; physical facilities and population and curriculum.

He told the audience that the Long Range committee plans to meet with high school students to get their ideas, and he quoted from an April 13 letter to the board, expressing the committee's view that any new principal at the high school should be flexible, imaginative and interested in working with change.

Teacher-Aide Funds Sought. The board unanimously decided to apply for $20,000 in Federal funds for a teacher-aide program. Ten paid aides would free teachers from non teaching duties and, as a bonus, "broaden the range of adults available to children as models."

Mrs. J. Stuart Hunter protested. She cited volunteer helpers now in the schools, who have college degrees. The paid aides, she said, would probably be only high-school graduates.

Superintendent Philip E. McPherson told her that paid aides didn't necessarily rule out unpaid ones, and he added, "Some of the kinds of people we want as aides, aren't college-trained and can't afford to serve as unpaid volunteers."

Norman Van Arsdalen, head of physical education activities for the schools, presented a digest of a comprehensive physical education report which will be up for discussion at the next board meeting.

Jean Hunter, high school student, asked whether Mr. Van Arsdalen was aware of the need for adequate ventilation and better shower facilities for girls.

"We're aware," he replied.

TRENTON MAN ABRESTED For Role in 3 Mugglings. A 22-year old Trenton man is in Mercer County Jail in lieu of $10,000 bail, waiting a Borough hearing over charges stemming from his alleged part in three separate muggings here Friday night.

Ronald C. Gunn has been charged with two counts of robbery. Pending are two charges of assault and battery and one of obstructing and molesting. He was scheduled to appear for a prohable cause hearing Wednesday afternoon before Borough Judge Theodore T. Tams Jr.

Repertory Next Fall? Cliffhanger Ends Happily

Moderns will move in on the classics next season at McCarter — the oldest playwright in the six play series is Oscar Wilde. The play, if you can believe it, is "The Importance of Being Earnest."

Other plays will be Arthur Miller's "All My Sons"; John Ardens "Sergeant Musgrove's Dance"; Harold Pinter's "The Homecoming", George Kelley's "The Show Off" and the world premiere of a new play by a prominent American writer. When the last legal ends are tied, the name will be announced.

An innovation — after conferences with school teachers around the state, McCarter has decided to mount two productions especially for high school audiences. The plays will probably be "Macbeth" and "Raisin in the Sun," and they will not be included in the regular repertory.

For a time, it looked as though there might not be a 1970-71 repertory season at McCarter at all.

"There was some feeling that it might be wise to stop repertory for a year so that we could study its format in light of the University's financial situation," says Arthur Lithgow, executive director of McCarter.

In short, money.

But the nine member McCarter Theatre Committee composed of University staff and faculty, decided overwhelmingly that repertory should go ahead, and so a six play season will open in October.

Arthur Lithgow

A delicate balance always exists in McCarter's bank account. As Mr. Lithgow points out, downward economic trends in the nation always affect the arts, and especially the theatre, first.

"The cost of lumber for building sets," he says, "the cost of advertising and printing . . ."

At McCarter, there is one big package budget. Income from the repertory plays, the various films and "specials" all goes into the same kitty. And thereby hangs a McCarter problem.

"We aren't eligible for Ford Foundation money," laments Mr. Lithgow "because we aren't purely repertory. We can't show, for example, precisely what part of our budget goes into plays for high schools. We aren't alone: no one university-connected theatre in the United States has received such a grant, not even from the National Council on the Arts."

However, McCarter is better off than some theatres in its category, Mr. Lithgow says. The average pre-production cost borne by a theatre is $20,000 per production McCarter's is a bit under $10,000.

A new, theatre trained chairman of the University's McCarter Committee will move onto the scene next season. He is Daniel Seltzer, new to the University's English department, and formerly assistant director of the Loeb Drama Center at Harvard.

He will teach a credit course in "Acting and Directing" at the University. A man with a feeling for relevance, he's responsible for suggesting many of the plays in the 1970-71 repertory, according to Mr. Lithgow.

BENEFIT EVENING SET

For University Community Fund. An Evening of Words and Music, a benefit for the newly established Princeton University Community Fund, a fund for voluntary contributions in support of political activities, will be held this Friday, at 8:30 p.m. at McCarter Theatre.

The program will feature poetry and prose readings by noted writers in residence and chamber music performed by outstanding musicians who live in the Princeton vicinity.

Theodore Weiss, Professor of Creative Arts, and author of five books of poetry, will read from his recent works; Jan Carew, novelist and playwright from Guyana, who is lecturing in contemporary third world literature at Princeton this year, will read a section from a current novel-in progress; and Richard A. Falk, Albert G. Milbank Professor of International Law and Practice in the Woodrow Wilson School, will read from his own poetry.

Chamber works by Bach, Hayden, and Martinu will be played by Robert Martin, cellist of the Livingston Trio and a member of the philosophy and history departments at Livingston College, Rutgers University; Jayn Rosenfeld Seigel, former first flutist of the American Symphony Orchestra who recently gave a concert in Carnegie Recital Hall; Henry Schuman, New York concert, recording and chamber oboeist; and Irene Schreier, prize winning pianist in the Munich International Competition, who has toured Europe and the United States as soloist and Chamber musician.

The Princeton University Community Fund has been established to support political activities. It enables donors to support such projects and organizations as the Movement for a New Congress, the Union for National Draft Opposition, the Princeton University Strike Coordinating Committee or other groups specified by contributors.

Tickets will be available at the Princeton University Store and at the door of McCarter Theatre on May 29th. Reserved seating is $5.00 and general admission is $3.00.

"THE BOYS IN THE BAND," Mort Crowley's off-Broadway hit about homosexuality appears in its film version at the Prince and Trent this week.

FINAL CONCERT SET

For This Westminster Choir The last concert of the academic year by the Westminster Choir will be given Thursday night, in the auditorium of John Witherspoon School on Walnut Lane. The public is invited.

The choir's 40 voices are conducted by Arthur Sjogren, associate professor of music history and literature at Westminster Choir College. Mr. Sjogren has taught previously at Barrington College, Harvard University and the Peabody Conservatory.

The concert forms a part of the special events of Senior Week and Alumni Week at the college May 25-29. Commencement exercises will take place Friday in the Princeton University Chapel.

FESTIVAL DRAWS 11,000 To McCarter, Museum. Almost 6,000 New Jersey students took part in the Teen Arts Festival Preview at McCarter Theatre and the State Museum May 12-13-14, and another 5,000 showed up as spectators.

More than 200 pieces of original art, crafts and photographs by New Jersey teenagers were on display. Programs of drama, music, film, dance, readings and multi-media occupied another 800 students.

Original work — plays written and performed by students, dance works choreographed by students, music composed by students and multi-media presentations arranged by students — formed the heart of the Festival.

Since the event was called a "preview," sponsors hope that the Festival itself, to be held next spring, will produce even more original work. Sponsors are McCarter, the State Museum, the New Jersey Council on the Arts and the State Department of Education.

During the three-day Preview, the Museum presented two programs each day of student made films, original writing and music. McCarter offered three afternoon programs: two of student drama and a third of dance, large music groups and a light show. Technical rehearsals were held each morning for groups particularly interested in production techniques.

PRINCE and TRENT

Boys in the Band (now playing) is a faithful adaptation of the hit off Broadway play by Mart Crowley. It deals with homosexuality, although the playwright's treatment of his material is too lightweight to dramatize the plight of the homosexual.

Funny lines come so fast they almost trip over each other as the five homosexuals descend on the apartment of the host who is honoring the 32nd birthday of a mutual friend. The festive mood changes as an uninvited guest arrives — an old school chum of the host. The revellers, who have been getting increasingly drunk, are coerced into a "truth" game in which they must call up someone they loved in secret in the past. Revelations of old loves, old guilts and old regrets turns the film from comedy to melancholy drama.

The ensemble playing of an uncommonly gifted cast from the stage show is headed by Kenneth Nelson as the host with the tongue of an adder.

GARDEN

Bob & Carol & Ted & Alice (now playing) is an American sex comedy about modern marriage and morals. The starring foursome are Robert Culp, Natalie Wood, Elliott Gould and Dyan Cannon.

The story concerns marital infidelity, wife swapping and communal love. It begins with Culp, in the role of a successful film maker, and his wife (Miss Wood) spending a weekend at one of those resorts where bored jet-setters learn to "communicate" in a totally free environment, regaining the joy of life, etc. They return full of enthusiasm and convert their closest friends, successful lawyer Gould and his wife, Miss Cannon.

The film's humor is an eccentric pastiche of burlesque, slap stick and incisive satire, dealing with sex, pot-smoking and psychology. Particularly funny are the scenes early in the movie where Miss Wood and Culp try out their new doctrine of universal love on a head waiter. Miss Cannon, a screen newcomer, is a stunningly beautiful woman. Gould, whose facial expressions match the wit of the screenplay, has a leer that is peculiarly his own and unforgetable.

PLAYHOUSE

Let It Be (now playing) is The Beatles' latest film — and last, so they say. Full of music and, as usual, no plot to speak of.

BOB & CAROL.. or Natalie Wood and Robert Culp, co-star with Dyan Cannon and Elliott Gould in "Bob & Carol & Ted & Alice," held over for another week at the Garden.

"FISH PROTEIN is something we're going to hear a lot about in the next ten years," according to Louis Funk, manager of Davidson's supermarket. "It comes in powder form and you mix it with flour. It is a very high protein item and I understand that they have been testing this because they are looking for a stable substitute for high protein meat. My supplier has the only brand for the two-pound size, and it is priced high for the market right now, but I believe it will come down."

IT'S NEW To Us

GRAPE LEAVES?

"That's Princeton, Again!" Manager Louis Funk at Davidson's Supermarket on Nassau Street believes that professional researchers of consumer buying stay away from Princeton.

"Princeton is unique, saleswise," he said the other day amid the crush of weekend buying. "If you've noticed, there hasn't been any kind of market survey in Princeton. The first in the five years I have been manager was by a Rider College student who came in Saturday's asking customers what brand and what size they were buying."

As a woman swiveled past him with a loaded basket of groceries he added, "When I call my suppliers to place an order for something unusual, they always say, 'Oh, that's Princeton, again!' "

What would he be ordering? Grape leaves. Greek foods. English and French imported goods. Natural, stone-ground flour. Old-fashioned peanut butter without preservatives. Fish protein concentrate.

"People are more conscious of what they buy," Mr. Funk comments. "First of all, my sales have been increasing in merchandise without preservatives. There's been a new drive in natural organic foods—people are getting tired of eating food with preservatives."

Davidson's puts its jars of old-fashioned peanut butter — the kind that you have to stir a little before you eat it — over on the health food shelves, along with the stone - ground flour.

"I understand that Smucker's is coming out with a natural peanut butter with no preservative for the same price as the product that's on the market right now," he offers.

A native of Hungary who came here 10 years ago, he has a cool-headed, friendly courtesy that makes him the perfect man for his job.

Princeton housewives are more conscious of detergents because of the anti-pollution publicity of the past few months, Mr. Funk adds. "They know about the phosphate contents. There's a conservation group in Princeton that brought a list of detergents into the store and, with my permission, posted it for people to see. People are looking at it."

Tastes in Meat. For all the general rise in cost of food, Princeton is a beef - loving town . . . but the cheaper cuts of meat are being explored more. "A couple of years ago, we couldn't give away stuffed lamb or veal breasts — now it sells."

Frozen prepared foods have been increasing in sales here, as they have nationally, and Princetonians are buying more skim milk than ever before.

As for soft drinks "The cyclamates problem didn't last long," Mr. Funk observes. "I think that perhaps the tests were premature, and that's why the government extended the deadline until September. But I have noticed that a lot of people, probably conservationists, are not taking the "no deposit" bottles anymore. They are buying the other."

People are funny, though. Mr. Funk recalls the woman who at the height of the cyclamate controversey, returned a carton of soft drinks — and bought a carton of cigarets. "It doesn't make a lot of sense."

BROWSING THE AISLES

At Urkea's. Walking sideways through Urken's Hardware on Witherspoon Street, we found webbing for repairs to garden furniture.

The white plastic tubing is available in kit form for the first time this year. It comes in 120 ft. lengths and you need one kit for a chair; two for a chaise. It's also available in a soft orange or pale green. ($2.98)

There's a new, double duty picnic jug put out by Thermos on display at Urken's. It is super-insulated; you put hot liquids in one side and cold in the other . . . ($5.95)

For your patio, you can solve the problem of subdued light in a number of ways: many-colored lanterns on a 20-ft. electric cord; small square-cornered, glass lanterns in metal frames, designed for candles ($2.59); or the Tahiti garden torches in red or green; or even pastel - colored lamps on tall aluminum spikes, easy to arrange and re-arrange. These hold candles, too.

We noticed many kinds of grills at Urken's, recognizing the famous Char-Broil and Weber brands. There is a good supply of barbecue tools with long handles, and a new kind of charcoal starter to investigate. This is a cone-shaped gadget of light metal, open top and bottom.

You throw your charcoal into the bottom and when you light the coals, they are held closely together so that they quickly form hot coals. There's a handle sticking out the side to keep you from scorching yourself when you remove the cone to start cooking. ($1.49, and very handy)

And to hold your drinks off the grass, Urken's has flower pot shaped plastic containers mounted on spikes to stick in the ground near your chaise. Different colors. And clip-on snack trays for garden chairs.

Going past the garden hose, tools and spreaders, we found the handy kitchen item called Spacemakers, little drawers that fit under wall cabinets for holding twine, wax paper, spices, odds and ends. And farther on, the very useful "Traffic Mats" in tweedy, decorator weaves and backed by heavy, heavy rubber.

TEN-O-SIX & ALL THAT

At Marsh's, Marsh Pharmacies, Nassau Street and at the Montgomery Shopping Center, carry the medicated skin lotion "Ten-O-Six" that is so popular with Princeton youth. They buy it for a problem skin — or to prevent skin problems.

Antiseptic and cooling, it can be used first thing in the morning before applying make-up, or for cleansing — and it comes in travel-handy tissues, too. Made by Bonne Bell, who also have a hormone lotion called "Plus 30."

For a light make up, you may enjoy trying the new "Next - to - Nothing" line by Yardley. These come separately in slim little compacts, such as a blusher and loose powder; or two shades of blusher and brush ($3.75); or a lipstick type case for the blosher and brush ($3.25).

There are the clear, see through lip colors, which Yardley calls "Cellophanes," in an amusing range of shades from "Snuggle Pink" to "Coffee for Two" (a brown).

Then there are the Frosty lipsticks that shimmer with color, and "Slickers," which you wear over or under another lipstick, or by itself. Choose from among such shades as Dune Yellow, Dinghy Blue, Suntan Brown and many others.

For the barelegged look with your sandals, you'll want to explore the new foam make-up called "Ultra Legs." This doesn't streak at all and its wear-proof, coming off only with soap and water. You can buff it to get a shine, as many do. Four shades available (4 oz., $3).

Marsh has a number of customers who are devoted to the Alo "Moisture Plus" cream. This is a light cream, and the first of the skin products based upon the medicinal values of the aloe plant. It comes in lotions for the hands, for the body and there's a very fine ointment for burns.

There's also a new "Creme 2000" by Bonne Bell, which is designed as a skin builder-upper for the busy woman. A trial size is $2.75. The larger size, containing four times as much, is $7.50. A lipstick containing Creme 2000 is also a vailable.

The shelves in the cosmetics department at Marshes are filled with the beautifully packaged offerings of Chanel, Rochas, Guerlain, Houbigant, Chanel, Lentheric, Lanvin, Worth, Caron, and so on.

And still popular is the first eau de cologne ever made: "4711" and its companion scent "Tosca." Try them, and find out why.

Gunn was arrested at 10 on Friday night by Pfl Arthur Jackson, who had two of the victims in his car at the time, and by Pfl Thomas Procaccino. The officers had spotted the suspect running up Tulane Street toward Nassau.

The three separate muggings took place between 10 and 10 15 p.m. Two of Gunn's companions are still at large.

The first victim, a High School student was assaulted at Nassau and University Place, police said. According to Lt Michael Carnevale three males stopped the student and asked for money. When he said no, one struck him in the face knocking him over a hedge whereupon all three jumped him. They took his watch and a $6 bill.

One of the attackers, Lt Carnevale reported was reluctant to leave and kept kicking the student. After the attack the youth came to Borough headquarters from where he was taken by a patrol car to Princeton Hospital.

Five minute later a 19 year old youth was attacked by the same three as he was walking through a Palmer Square parking lot next to John Street. He told police that one identified himself as a Princeton University student and wanted to ask a question. As the two were talking, the other two youths grabbed the victim and started to punch him.

They took $14 in cash, two rings and the shoes the victim was wearing. He was picked up by a patrol car and taken to headquarters where he later identified Gunn as one of his assailants.

The third attack took place just west of Nassau Hall. Police said a university student and his date were walking when the three stopped them and asked for money to get to Trenton. The student refused. He was punched in the head. His date, police said, was struck and kicked. They grabbed the student's wallet containing $10.

As the victim and several other students gave chase they were joined by Pfl Arthur Jackson. He ushered the couple inside his patrol car and minutes later they spotted the running Gunn. At headquarters, the couple identified Gunn as one of the three.

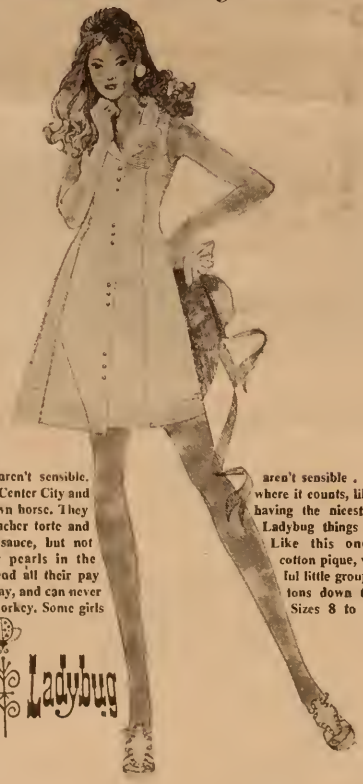
Ladybug is for some girls, not for everyone.


Some girls aren't sensible. They live in Center City and own their own horse. They can make sacher torte and hollandaise sauce, but not toast; wear pearls in the bathtub; spend all their pay by Wednesday, and can never find their doorkey. Some girls aren't sensible . . . except where it counts, like always having the nicest possible Ladybug things to wear. Like this one: white cotton pique, with wistful little groups of buttons down the front. Sizes 8 to 16, $19.

Closing Extended

Valley Road will be closed off through the end of the next week—a total of two weeks—while the Township, to be aided shortly by the state, makes traffic counts.

"Witherspoon at rush hours is a mad house," said Mayor John D. Wallace gloomily this week. Traffic has backed up on Witherspoon and Mt. Lucas Road to the Princeton Lab oratory building beyond Terhune, he said.

Counts are being made on Birch Avenue and Valley and will be taken next week on Terhune, the mayor said.

Public hearing on the ordinance to close Valley permanently, is still scheduled for June 15.

through cooperation from citizens of the community," Borough Lt. Michael Carnevale commented in reporting the police had received three or four reports of indecent exposure last week.

They occurred he said, at Boyard Lane near Westcott; at Nassau and Chestnut, and Hawthorne near Walnut Lane. He added that the police were not certain whether one man had committed all three acts or not.

INN GETTING READY For Dormitory Use. Busy as a housewife getting ready for guests, Princeton University is cleaning up the last details before opening the doors of the Princeton Inn to women students.

Light air variances traceable to those small windows won't be required, the Township Zoning board unanimously ruled last Thursday. The Inn is, in zoning terminology, a prior non - conforming structure, meaning those little windows were put in before the light air specifications were laid down.

Also, the building will continue to be used as before for "transient" residents.

The three story Princeton Inn addition planned by the University, is on the Township's site plan review board agenda for this week, and may get through to the Princeton Regional Planning Board for consideration at next Tuesday's public meeting.

The University also has a few house keeping odds and ends; Borough Zoning Board has required that a small house on the Inn's grounds be sliced away from the main property, and in the Township, the University has some lines through the Inn property, to eradicate. Both are on the Planning Board's Tuesday agenda.

In another part of the campus, the University will be up before the Planning Board for Borough site plan review with 169 171 Nassau. These are buildings across Nassau from Davidson's market where the University wants to hold some arts classes.

CAR HITS HOUSE And Parked Car. Three university students escaped injury when their car went out of control on Harrison Street early Tuesday morning, struck a house and then a parked car. The driver, James S. Vandermade Jr., 21, whose home address is Montclair, was charged by Sgt. John J. Bellow with driving while impaired due to alcohol.

Passengers in the car were Rand Mirante, and Guy Lawrence, both 22, both of 35 Patton Hall.

Vandermade told police that he had just turned the corner from Nassau onto Harrison and he was going too fast. His car began to fishtail. After skidding some 250 feet, it jumped the curb opposite Sergeant Street.

The car continued on some 50 feet across the front lawn of John Servia, 30 Harrison After glancing off a tree, it hit the front porch of the Servis house, breaking bricks loose and a wooden pillar.

Still out of control, the car continued on across the width of the Servis lot before striking a car parked in the driveway of 36 Harrison belonging to Thomas W. O'Neil. Vander made was arrested and taken to police headquarters where he submitted to an alcohol test. His car had to be towed away.

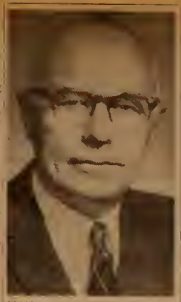
Pedestrian Struck. Mrs. Cecelia Johnson, 55, 55 Park Place, refused to go to Princeton Hospital after she was struck while walking between two parked cars on Nassau Street Thursday, some 300 feet east of Vandeventer. She received abrasions of the left leg and hand and right leg. She also complained of a pain in her back.

Sgt. Ralph Procaccino ticketed the driver, Claire Anne Weller, 21, of Beville, Texas with carless driving and non compliance with a learner's permit. Mrs. Johnson told police that she saw the Weller car was backing up to allow another car to pull out but she thought she had given the driver plenty of room.

27 Sutures. Early last week John G. Gallaudet, 22, 207 Edgerstoune, received 27 sutures for a laceration of his chin which he received when he triggered a three car accident at the intersection of Nassau and Harrison Street. He was charged with drunken driving by Pfc. David Alston.

According to police, Gallaudet, driving on Nassau approaching Harrison, struck the left rear fender of a car operated by Clair K. Henninger, 53, 22 Clearview, who was stopped at the traffic light. His car then slid off and rammed the front end of a car driven by Doris D. Biegen, 43, of Kendall Park, who was in process of turning left off Harrison onto Nassau. Mrs. Biegen received abrasions of the arm and face contusions.

Just prior to the collision, the Gallaudet car had struck a telephone pole a few hundred yards away and glanced off, police said. It and the Biegen car had to be towed away.



MAN OF THE WEEK: Hugh L. Rusch, for successfully launching a second career following "retirement" as vice-president of Opinion Research.

HELD FOR GRAND JURY

Following Drug Arrests. Five Princeton area youths have been held over for action by a Grand Jury, following a hearing last week in Borough Court. They had been picked up earlier in a drug raid combining Borough, University and State police.

They are Steve Harris, 20, 111 Cuyler Hall, Princeton University; Joseph Magadoro 20, Dorchester Apartments, Cranbury; Thomas D. Richardson, 23, 42 Gordon Avenue, Lawrenceville, David Pavitt, 24, Forrestal Research Center; and Daniel Momas, 20, Ellis Drive, Belle Mead. All have been charged with selling drugs.

Charges against three university students involving selling, possession and maintaining a common nuisance for the use of drugs, was adjurned until Wednesday. They are Mitchell Daniels, 18, Marcus F. Stuart, 20, and Richard L. Stockton, 20, all of 111 Cuyler Hall.

Two more university students, Thomas A. Streitferdt of South Orange, and Stephen W. Hunter of the Bronx, both 19, were each fined $250 and court costs for malicious damage. Originally, they had been charged with breaking and entering after they were apprehended last month just outside the University Store which they had broken into. The charges were lowered to malicious mischief.

Eugene Martini, 52, no known address, was sentenced to three days in Borough Jail for drunkenness. A 30 day sentence to the Mercer County Work house was suspended by Judge Theodore T. Tams.

Nancy L. Forman, 24, Etra Road, Hightstown, was fined $200 for drunken driving. She pleaded not guilty. She also paid a $12 fine for failing to stop for a flashing red light.

Last week, a federal jury returned a guilty verdict against Miklos Varga, 28, of Trenton. He had been charged with theft of $5,512 from the Princeton Savings and Loan Association in 1967. He also took $10,000 in unsigned Traveler's Checks from the Association.

When indicted, Jantos, an ex heroin addict, was already serving a 4 to 6 year sentence in State Prison on other charges of larceny and breaking and entering.

TO HONOR WAR DEAD

On Memorial Eve. Princeton's annual Memorial Day parade will be held the evening before, this Friday, at 7 p.m. The parade, highlighted by four marching bands, will wind up at Borough Hall where the Vietnam war dead will be honored.

The change in parade plans was caused by the difficulty in securing bands for Memorial Day. "There seems to be an increased interest everywhere in conducting Memorial Day parades," according to Commander Frank Tylus of American Legion Post 76.

Post 76 is coordinating the ceremony in cooperation with Princeton Post 218 and Hone well Post 339. Co chairman are Commander Tylus and D. Don Richards of Post 76.

Princeton servicemen who lost their lives as a result of combat in Vietnam are Pfc Robert B. Smith, Sp 4 Thomas R. Grover, Cpl. David T. Graham, 1st. Lt. Raymond E. Stone, Sp/5 Norman R. Everett and 2nd Lt. William D. Smoyer.

Presentation Planned. Borough Mayor Robert Cawley, Township Mayor John Wallace and West Windsor Mayor Malcolm Roszel will present the American Legion Medal of Appreciation to the service men's family. On Veterans' Day, last November 11, the posthumous honor was bestowed on 1st. Lte. Richard D. B Shepherd.

The four marching bands are the 21st Air Force Band from McGuire Air Force Base, "The Saints" 75 piece band from Post 324, Edison; the "Blue Angels," sponsored by Post 248, Colonia, and the "Volunteers," from Post 120 Lambertville. For the first time, the Princeton High School Band will not be in the marching line.

On Memorial Day, Post 218 will conduct services at Princeton Cemetery. Post 76 will decorate graves and hold a brief ceremony at St Paul's Cemetery. The color guard of Post 76 will take part in the Hopewell Post 339 parade scheduled for 10 a m in Hopewell

POOLS TO OPEN

This Weekend The Community Park pool complex will open its fifth season Saturday, Memorial Day at 11 a.m.

During the first three weeks the pools will be open on weekends only from 11 to 6 p.m. Daily operation will begin Monday, June 15.

Weekday hours are 12 30 p.m. to 8 p.m. On weekends starting Saturday, June 13 the pools will be open from 11 until 8.

$42,000 To Make Up. Mr. Barr reported that through May 18 the Recreation Department had collected $25,389 in pool and tennis fees toward an anticipated revenue in 1970 of $67,519. We're about $1,000 ahead of last year at this time," he commented.

Pool fees account for the bulk of the income. The $26,429 collected so far is $710 ahead of the corresponding time in 1969, the $4 410 in tennis fees is $5 more. Non resident pool income jumped $2,000 from $5,760 to $7,760 but tennis income from non residents was down $442 from 1969

Princeton's summer playgrounds will open June 22 Three of them, Grover Park, Community Park and Prince ton High School will open a week earlier The Adult softball league will open June 1 It will play on Monday and Wednesday nights at Community Park, the Little League on Tuesdays and Thursdays

In other action the board decided to shelve at least for this summer a proposal to institute a charge for tennis services on the nine first dry courts and to explore further the possibility of employing a full time tennis professional at the Community Park courts

The idea of a tennis professional to supervise the courts, give lessons and operate a pro shop was suggested to the board by John Bauman, new chairman of the Princeton Community Tennis Program

WADING POOL TO OPEN

At 10 A.M. on Weekdays. The wading pool at Community Park will be open in the morn ings, after all.

Bowling to a number of complaints from mothers with young children, the Joint Recreation Board has announced that the wading pool will open at 10 a.m. There are two conditions however: it will be open weekdays only, and only to season ticket holders. On weekends and holidays the wading pool will open at 11.

Originally, the wading pool was not to open this season until 12:30, along with the rest of the pools. Mothers objected however, saying their young children took naps in the afternoon. Last year, the wading pool opened at 11:15.

Mr. Barr also announced that the Recreation Department is continuing its pool scholarship (or financial assistance) program of last year, which provides that no Princeton child will be denied the opportunity to swim because of inability to pay.

Complete information on the program, which is handled directly between Mr. Barr and the individual, is available from Mr. Barr at 921-9480.

In another policy change, the department has decided not to keep pool permits this year. The cards will be available to subscribers on opening day Saturday and thereafter. Facilities will be available for those who wish to leave their cards with the manager at the swimming pool.

Crescent Display of Trenton, operators of the concession stand at the pool complex, will give out 300 American flags on Memorial Day. Mr. Barr reported. The flags, about 5 x 6 inches, will be given to children as they leave the pool, he said.

FOUR ARE FINED

For Careless Driving. Four Princeton area drivers were each fined $15 Monday in traffic court by Borough Judge Theodore T. Tanis Jr. for careless driving.

They are Addie Colvin, 59, 122 Birch Avenue; Roger O'Kane, 57, 294 Alexander Street; Thorn Lord, 32, Province Line Road; and Matthew J. Meyers, 22, of Brooklyn, a Princeton University student. All pleaded guilty.

Eugene Holmes, 35, of Kingston paid $15 for no name on a commercial vehicle, the same amount that Robert E. Muehleck, 23, 322 S. Main Street, Pennington, paid for driving with no tailpipe.

Gena O. Wilks, 64, 1 Campbelton Circle, was fined $12 for a stop sign violation.

Fined $255. In Township court last week, Judge Burton Peskin fined Paul D. Esposito, 20, 9 Harris Road, $255 for driving while on a revoked list. Kenneth E. Durland, 20, of Edgemere Avenue, Plainsboro, was fined $20 and had his license suspended for 45 days for reckless driving.

Allowing an unlicensed driver to operate his car cost John R. Stritch, 19, 17 Greenview Avenue, $30. Paying fines of $15 each were John M. Fried man Jr., 24, 90 Princeton Avenue, Rocky Hill, careless driving; and Robert A. Kann, 143 Loomis Court, stop sign. Morton Collins, 38, 221 Nassau Street, paid $23 for speeding.

The state's Division of Motor Vehicles has suspended for 30 days each for speeding the licenses of Barry Abelson, 21, 422 Nassau Street, and Anne Salvaggio, 47, 107 Search Avenue, Pennington.

Halted for three months each under the point system were Charles J. Melvin, 21, of Lincoln Highway, and Arthur L. Foy, 19, Pennington Road, Pennington. Clarence K. Brixey, 35, Dorchester Apartments, Cranbury, lost his license for one month on points.

CAREER DEVELOPMENT AWARD WINNERS: Nine Princeton High School seniors have been honored for their special skills and motivation for success in their career fields through an awards program begun a year ago by Educational Testing Service. They are (from left seated): Marsha Scott, Linda Petrone, Rosanna Hyler, Joan Sassman; (standing) Barbara Owens, Elaine Glinka, Nancy Cawley, Ivory Jackson and Deborah Porter.

CAREER AWARDS TO NINE In Program's Second Year. Nine graduating seniors at Princeton High School have been selected to receive Career Development Awards for vocational or technical training which they intend to pursue in September.

The awards program, now in its second year, is a prototype of a national vocational awards program which Educational Testing Service hopes to develop in the future.

Honored for their special skills and motivation for success in their chosen fields are: Elaine F. Glinka, Rosanna Hyler, Ivory Jackson, Jr., Barbara M Owens, Linda A Petrone, Deborah J. Porter, Joan A. Sassman, Marsha V Scott (all of Princeton), and Nancy J. Cowley of Princeton Junction.

The winners were selected from among 32 area seniors on the basis of personal interviews, recommendations of teachers, students and employers, and tests and questionnaires.

Next fall, they will all enroll in one or two year vocational or technical programs outside the traditional academic areas. They intend to go on to careers in fashion designing, nursing, commercial artistry, retailing or secretarial work.

Administered by ETS The awards program began last spring as a locally supported educational effort to commend and give financial aid if necessary to young men and women who were not going to continue school in the traditional academic areas. The program is administered by ETS as a public service.

The awards selection committee includes community leaders, some of whom are also members of the Advisory Committee, representing supporting organizations, corporations and schools. This year the awards total more than $1000, which will be distributed over a two year period if the recipients maintain satisfactory educational progress.

Honorary awards have been granted to students who did not require scholarship aid, according to G Dykeman Sterling, a vice president of ETS involved in the program. The amount of each scholarship is determined by the student's need.

Serving on the selection committee this year were Mrs Eva J Critz of the Chamber of Commerce, Miss Mary E Moore, 28 Quarry Street, Mrs D Blumenfeld, manager of the American Cyanamid Company's Princeton plant, Arthur Shack, director of community services at Mercer County Community College, Bruce Edwards, assistant director of personnel services at Princeton University, and Bob Nelson, Nelson Glass and Aluminum company.

Sponsors Sponsors who have pledged an additional scholarship to the program for 1970 and 71 are Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Tuplin, 55 Armour Road, the First National Bank of Princeton, and the RCA Corporation. Other sponsors for 1970 are American Cyanamid Company, International Business Machines Corporation, McGraw Hill, Inc., Princeton Bank and Trust Company, Shell Chemical Company, and Union Camp Corporation.

In addition, financial contributions to the current scholarship fund were made by the Princeton Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Western Electric Company.

Awards were conceived by educators at ETS as a response to the need to offer special recognition to students with high abilities, and to encourage them to improve their skills by continuing their formal education.

Last year, 15 students were recognized under the new program, and all are now completing their first year in junior college, a technical school or a nursing program.

TWO ADDITIONS PLANNED

By Princeton Hospital. Princeton Hospital will appear before the Borough Zoning Board Thursday night with plans for a new emergency department and new maintenance shop. The board will meet in Borough Hall at 8 p.m.

The maintenance shop would be located on the northeast corner of the hospital; the proposed new emergency department would completely fill in the court leading to the present emergency entrance. Because the proposed additions are located in a Residential 4 district, the hospital needs a conditional use variance.

Under the propsal, 18 parking spaces would be lost but a spokesman from the Borough engineering department commented that the additions were well within the confines of the overall expansion scheme presented to the board by the hospital a few years ago.

At that time, the hospital told the board: "we have reached the point where we have to expand. Either we move out of town or we expand our existing plant." The board gave the hospital the green light to expand.

Plaos for Passageway. Bellefonte, Inc., owner of Bellows, 210 Nassau Street, will ask for a favorable recommendation from Mayor and Council for a use variance that would permit it to expand a non-conforming business by the construction of an addition.

Bellows wants to build a passageway that would connect its main store with its "Tree House" on Moore Street. It needs a variance for one parking space and the use variance because it exceeds the 10,000 square feet of usable retail space allowed in a central business zone.

In a third case, Charles J. Draine, 166 Nassau Street, needs a conditional use authorization from the board to convert the second floor of 166 Nassau to offices. The first floor houses his real estate offices.

Mr. Draine's proposal does not meet several yard requirements under the zoning law.

In a final case, Joseph L. Stonaker, 30 Bainbridge, will ask for a variance to a coverage requirement.

Mr. Stonaker wants to build a house on the lot he owns on Bainbridge, part of which is occupied by a turnaround. When Bainbridge is made a through road, the turnaround will be abandoned. Mr. Stonaker will get his piece of land back, and he will meet the lot coverage requirement he needs to build. The problem is that he wants to build now, hence the request for a variance.

158th COMMENCEMENT SET

At Princeton Seminary. Plans for the 158th commencement weekend at Princeton Theological Seminary were announced this week by Dr. James I. McCord, president.

The Baccalaureate sermon will be presented by the Rev. Dr. Elmer G. Homrighausen, who is the retiring Charles R. Erdman Professor of Pastoral Theology. The ceremony will be given in the First Presbyterian Church in Princeton, beginning at 4 Sunday afternoon.

The theme for Alumni Day, Monday, is "The Renewal of Creation." Returning graduates of the Seminary will hear the Rev. Dr. Karlfried Froehlich, who is Associate Professor of the History and Theology of the Mediaeval Church speak on "The Ecology of Creation," at a seminar at 10 in Miller Chapel.

After luncheon for the alumni and their guests, Paul Vlvisaker will conduct a seminar on "The Redemption of Nature," in Miller Chapel. A reception for graduates and their families, faculty and staff will follow at Springdale, the home of president and Mrs. McCord.

The Alumni Banquet and Annual Meeting of the Alumni Association will be held in the Seminary's Campus Center beginning at 6 Monday evening. Dr. McCord will address the guests on "Princeton In the Seventies." A ceremony of recognition will honor Dr. Homrighausen and Dr. David Hugh Jones, who is also retiring at the end of the academic year, after 20 years as the Seminary's Professor of Music.

The Rev. Dr. Theodore M. Hesburgh, C.S.P., President of the University of Notre Dame, will deliver the commencement address in the chapel of Princeton University on the morning of June 2. He has selected "Perspectives for the Year 2000," as his topic.

WHAT WOULD EMILY SAY Mrs. Post, arbiter of social behavior, would no doubt find herself at variance with PHS junior Cyndi Haldane (right), who in discussing silly rules of social behavior objects to the one that prohibits young people from addressing adults by their first name. Tellair Parsells, a senior at the high school, questions the rule that says you can't interrupt when someone is talking — another no-no on Mrs. Post's list. (Staff Photo)

John DelMonte, 50 Humbert, psychologist. The fact that people can't talk to each other unless they've been properly introduced. I found this to be especially true when I was in London.

Mike Kaspersak, sophomore at Lawrenceville School: Probably those concerning a person's dress and appearance. If a guy wants to walk around in sandals and wear long hair, I think he should be able to.

Jean Maloney, Princeton Lawrenceville Road, secretary, Princeton Bank & Trust. I think, generally, adhering to social standards just for the impression that is created by your actions. Especially nowadays when we are living by two standards — one for the older generation and one for the younger generation. The younger generation is going to extremes in contradicting the social standards that have been set up just to make the point that contradicting them is the thing to do. Me? I would rather eat Sloppy Joes in front of a TV set than at a table.

The Rising Generation

"THE TOUGHER THE TASK . . ."

By Mike McConnell, Class of 1970, Princeton High School

How can parents and kids develop more meaningful relationships? First, let's recognize the need for both parental friendship and parental guidance.

Not one or the other, but both, at the same time, and all the time. It is precisely this which makes the job of parent one of the most difficult. But, as in anything, the tougher the task, the more rewarding the success.

At a time when kids spend upwards of seven hours a day at school, those hours spent at home with parents can and need be fun, refreshing and revitalizing. Teachers are difficult to get close to. They have more than 100 students each, hardly a ratio to compete with that of parents to kids in most families. Coaches are no better off than teachers. Not as many kids to work with, but not as much time either.

There's always the family minister, but for many kids this potential adult friend is never considered. Who wants to pour out his failings and frustrations to a man who, compassionate and understanding as he may be, still must give you an appointment to see him and "Hi, how are you. Glad you came by to talk, and what did you say your name was?" Youth needs adult friendship, concern, example, and discipline, and it's got to come from parents.

There are two very different kinds of parents. One is the 'Did you wipe your feet?", 'Chew with your mouth closed", and 'Did you clean up your room" sort.

They are correct parents, their kids wipe their feet, chew with their mouths closed, clean their rooms meticulously, and attempt to lose themselves in their away-from-home lives. They write their parents off as too old, distant, or old-fashioned.

A second type of parent is interested in what his child is doing, why he does it, and generates an interest on his child's part in the what and why of his own life.

He engages in "bull sessions", heads for the tennis courts for a best out of three, goes to see an "R" movie with his son; he and his children participate in the experience of life, with little "When we were kids we would . . ." or "Why don't you kids ever . . ." and a lot of "Hey, why don't we . . .!" This parent is providing real friendship.

At the same time, parents must strive to give their kids good advice, firm discipline, and a worthy example. This will provide kids with a good springboard from which to become masters of their own lives, confident that the decisions they make are not arbitrary but come from a developing maturity.

In a time of increasing confusion, misunderstanding, technology, rate of change, and an ever-growing awareness of man's inhumanity to his fellow man, beast, and even the planet he inhabits, kids feel the need for a strong, cohesive family unit.

They need a family free from competition, free from abrasiveness — a family in which the concern of every member, and particularly the parents, is the well-being and the happiness of every other member.

A physical closeness is important in developing a cohesive family unit. Have meals together, spend evenings talking over dessert. Get the whole family outside for a basketball game in the driveway.

Parents owe it to their children to develop this closeness. Of all the kids I've talked to, at least 70% said that they hadn't asked to be born. The 30% minority, however, strongly asserted that in deciding, the expectation of parental friendship had been a big factor.

CLUB News

RECORD GROSS ACHIEVED By Bryn Mawr Book Sale. In 39 years of collecting, sorting and reselling books of all kinds, the Bryn Mawr Club of Princeton had its most successful sale last month, grossing more than $8,000.

An autographed edition of Poetry by Robert Browning in excellent condition, originally appraised at $100, was re evaluated at $250, and sold eventually to a New York collector of Browning's works for $225. The book was discovered by one of the workers at the sale during the pricing and sorting.

Profits from this year's sale again enables the club to continue scholarship support to girls in the area attending college. Qualified girls from the Princeton area who are interested in financial aid to attend Bryn Mawr should notify their school guidance counselor.

Meanwhile, the collection of books for next year's sale has already begun. Through the generosity of those who donated books for this past sale, the club had more and better quality books to offer than ever before. To donate books, please call Mrs. Frank Reeder, 921 7046.

PHS Student Strike Backed.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

For the past few weeks there has been much undue criticism leveled at the student strike at PHS.

People complain that the Board of Education owes it to the taxpayers to stop the strike. However the school was not created for middle-aged taxpayers, but for the students, and almost 70% of us want to continue the strike.

Students of PHS do not like to have their educations run by middle-aged Princetonians who have been out of touch with the educational system for 30 years.

People also complain that students are in school to get an education, and that during the strike they are just loafing. This is wrong on two counts. First, the students are getting an education, in things like The History of Vietnam, The Draft, Politics, an Open School and in interacting with various people. These are things that are sadly lacking from the curriculums of modern educational institutions.

Secondly, the students themselves do not always feel that they are in school to get an education, but that they are there because they have no choice. Surely it is not too much to ask, that we learn in extra-curricular activities for the last few weeks of the year, as we have asked far.

Most Princetonians also feel that PHS should not go on strike because it is a public institution, and as such should remain apalitical.

The students do not ask that the school officially state that it is opposed to Nixon's policies, rather we want the option of working for peace, and learning about things important to us. (No one has ever suggested that classes would be closed to those who wish to follow their regual schedules).

All Princetonians should realize that students are people with strong political feelings, and a desire to control their lives and education, not little children whose only concern is getting a pencil with an eraser on it, or getting on the Honor Roll.

We High School students believe we should have partial control of our school because we best understand which courses will be important to us, and which will not. A desirable balance is struck when this understanding is blended with the knowledge of the faculty and administration.

It is of the utmost importance that educational institutions keep pace with the needs and desires of the students if they wish to prevent polarization between the generations.

Earth Day Not Dying.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

This letter is in answer to that written by Mrs. R. A. Kann in TOWN TOPICS, (May 21), in which she expressed concern that the issues brought out on Earth Day are dying.

Princeton Day School is trying to prevent this from happening. An office of "Ecology Action" has been set up and plans are being formulated for next year. We are trying to develop a mechanism for recycling most of the school's paper, glass and metal wastes.

This would involve transportation and packing of all the material to certain companies in the Jersey area who will pay a small fee and put the wastes back into the production system. Other students are researching the effects of our incinerator an the environment and what we can do ahont it. The PDS 7th grade participated in a drive to collect non-returnable bottles and aluminum cans last week.

Although PDS is only a small part of the Princeton community, we really are trying to keep alive the tenets of Earth Day.

Mis-read Mail.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Here is a definite indication that Frank Thompson, Jr., elected Representative to the Congress from New Jersey's Fourth District, may not always read what concerned members of his constituency write to him!

We wrote to Representative Thompson on May 12, 1970, expressing our support of President Nixon and urging that Representative Thompson use his influence in the Congress to do likewise.

Today, May 21, we received from Representative Thompson's office a form letter beginning: "Thanks very much for letting me know of your OPPOSITION to President Nixon's decision to send American troops into Cambodia." (The capitals are ours.) Mr. Thompson went on to express his intention "to expedite the passage of legislation which will compel the President to remove all American forces from Southeast Asia."

Does Representative Thompson nat expect any of his constituency to oppose his own opinion? Has he prepared only ane form letter to reply to all of his constituents who write to him?

His letter prompts us ta ask whether he or anyone else in his office bothered to read our letter at all. Has he perhaps only noted our name and return address from the envelope and automatically put us on his list of supporters?

An open letter to the Princeton University community:

I am a bit bemused, shall we say, by the decision to rearrange the academic calendar for non-academic activities. Bemused, in a personal reaction, because we have been told over and over again that the current crop of students are the brightest and most highly motivated ever to come along — if this is so, could not these students handle studies AND extra-curricular activities at the same time?

Bemused, again, from an objective (I hope) point of view — should not 2 weeks also be scheduled, then, for the students to go into police academies in large cities and learn some of the ins and outs of being a policeman? — should not 2 weeks also be scheduled for participation in cleaning up a particular block of a ghetto? — should not 2 weeks also be scheduled for discussions and workshops with the National Guard and with Kent State to ensure Kent State doesn't happen elsewhere?

Bemused, again, from a subjective point of view because I wonder if the 2 weeks should maybe be spent thinking quietly and deeply about whether the Princeton University community (or any other community) is prepared possibly to have the United States go isolationist, with all the ramifications thereunto. Is there a coherent thought about or plan for what to do internationally after U.S. troops are withdrawn from Asia? Are not the solutions to all our country's problems too complex to solve in the streets?

I am not beating the drums for any militaristic position, but I believe the Princeton University community (and every other community) should be thinking about these things. Reacting is instinctive, but it is not necessarily a good way to continually live one's life.

uable community newspaper. As such, I feel, it also has a responsibility.

It should speak truth. It should always speak truth but it should also be aware of its role as promoter of community activity. I write specifically of the review of the Community Players' recent production.

Two by Pinter. Your reviewer praised the cast, the production with some reservations for the direction but spent a major portion of the review space criticizing the choice of the plays.

That Pinter is a contemporary playwright of no small recognition is hardly news. Perhaps the Players should not have put on Pinter two Springs in a row. However, the dramatic value of the productions, as drama worthy to be played, is more of an established fact than your reviewer suggested.

Yes, Pinter is slow, yes it can be exasperating. Its dramatic tension is expressed in pauses as much as in lines. The "message" of "A Slight Ache" that we often communicate our deepest feelings to total strangers, or symbolic figures of death, leaving the trivia on the breakfast table, is too true to be dismissed as lightly as your reviewer did. And so on, and so on . . .

People I know stayed away from the plays because "it got a bad review." Wouldn't the review have served the community better if it had said, if you like Pinter this is credibly done Pinter.

Education is always valuable in a review of this kind, but personal aesthetics is irrelevant if it is not educative in the process. In my humble opinion, Pinter as well as the Players deserved better.

Support for McPherson Urged.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

We have sent the following letter to Dr. John Marks, President of the Princeton Board of Education:

This letter is a vote of confidence in Dr. Philip McPherson.

We have two children in Princeton High School. In the recent past weeks, we have seen their enthusiasm in participating in some real way in the problems that beset us locally, nationally and even further. It has been a real educative experience.

After reading such books as "Our Children Are Dying," "The Lives of Children," "Death at an Early Age" and the article "Murder in the Schoolroom" in the June issue of The Atlantic, it seems clear that not only ghetto schools are afflicted with tedium, boredom and archaic methods. The problem is far reaching.

Our schools are not what they should be. We think the way lies with next year's mixed age and ungraded plan for the Middle School, and hope that our third child who is in the sixth grade there can participate in that program.

We hope that the whole Princeton school system can connect the real force and concern that the students feel for all these current problems and use it as a basis for acquiring skills the school system can offer. We don't feel that the schools should take a step backwards from the vitality they have just experienced. From what we know, Dr. McPherson is the best person here available to lead us into a more forward and realistic position.

We urge your support of Dr. McPherson.

Thank you for your attention.

Smith Students Ask Support.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

We are students at Smith College. On Tuesday, May 5, Smith joined the National Student Strike. We are writing to explain the reasons for the strike at Smith and to ask for your support.

The past few weeks have been marked by an increase in domestic repression and growing United States involvement in Southeast Asia. The Nixon Administration's role in these events demands immediate action.

The causes of the strike at Smith are: the recent escalation of the Vietnam war into Cambodia, the resumption of bombing of North Vietnam, the increasing repression of dissent within the country, including harassment of the Black Panther Party, and the growing number of hills in Congress aimed at curbing the civil liberties of Americans in the interest of "national security." The list is intolerably long; it transcends the limits of partisan politics in posing an immediate threat to our most fundamental human values. We must speak out now.

The strike is not directed against the college or against education. It is a joint effort on the part of both students and faculty to influence national policy.

The strike does not preclude education, rather we continue our education with canvassing, seminars, and workshops on the mounting threat to human life and justice in the United States and throughout the world. Educational activity on this campus at this time can no longer concern itself merely with exams and papers. The crisis demands our immediate and complete attention.

The time has come for everyone to act in a positive and constructive manner to bring about peaceful change in our country. We feel that this may be our last chance to speak out and be heard. We call on you to consider the issues at hand, to make a firm commitment to freedom and to act upon that commitment.

Editor's Note: The letter was signed by Mary Brown, Gail Hood, Deborah Webster, Kirby Robinson, Annalee McConnell, Deborah Merrick, Sarah Peskin, Isabel Sloane, Joan Wadelton and Laura Bradshaw.

Flag Is Not For Protests.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I wish to underscore for its timeliness, temperateness and fairness, the letter of Jonathan Horton in TOWN TOPICS of May 20.

The usurpation of our country's flag by any section of the citizenry is indicative of a provinciality of viewpoint and lack of understanding of the profound love of country and concern for it that motivates the variously (though too often not constructively) expressed protests of those who see grave danger for the country we all live in the present direction its leadership is taking. Let no one assume proprietorship of patriotism.

For one month, he will live with the family, and then he will tour France for three weeks with a group of ten other Experiment students. Members of their French host families will be invited on the tour, and in this way the Experimenters will see France through the eyes of Frenchmen.

A training period will precede the trip, to acquaint all participants with the customs and culture of France.

Two new professors, John Milnor and Morton G. White, have been named at the Institute for Advanced Study, to faculty posts in the school of mathematics and the school of historical studies, respectively.

Dr. Milnor, who taught at Princeton University from 1954 to 1967, returns here after a year at U.C.L.A., and a year at M.I.T. He is a prominent young mathematician, the author of 60 articles and books, and a recipient of the Fields Medal and National Medal of Science. He is best known for his 1956 discovery of very fundamental properties of differentiable manifolds.

Dr. White comes to the Institute for Advanced Study from Harvard University, where he has been Professor of Philosophy since 1953. His work has encompassed technical, analytic philosophy and the history of thought.

His book "Social Thought in America" has been one of the most influential and widely-read books on the history of ideas to appear in this generation.

Dr. White received his Ph.D. from Columbia in 1942, simultaneously receiving the Woodbridge Prize in philosophy for his thesis and first book, "The Origin of Dewey's Instrumentalism." He is married and the father of two sons.

Robert J. Olson, 7 Spring wood Drive, Princeton Junction, has been named an assistant secretary in the treaty department of American Re-Insurance company. He has been with the company since 1967, and was formerly associated with Allstate Insurance Company.

Elliot I. Mesnick, 319 Snowden Lane, has been elected president and chief executive officer of American Container Corporation in Linden.

Mr. Mesnick's background includes management and business experience with General Magnaplate Corporation, three positions at Reynolds International, Inc., and the presidency of Ermco Cement Products. The organization, which consists of faculties from elementary and secondary independent schools throughout the state, provides member schools with opportunities for professional continuing education.

A Hun Alumnus, Mr. Reynolds continues to serve on the executive board of the New Jersey School Media Association, representing librarians and audio-visual specialists from public and independent schools.

William H. Helfaad, 131 Laurel Road, has been named president of the French operations of Merck, Sharp and Dohme International, a division of Merck & Co.

In his new position he is responsible for three subsidiary companies in France, and will transfer his offices to Paris in June. The three subsidiaries are Laboratoires Merck Sharp & Dohme, Laboratoires Chibret, and Compagnie Chimique Merck Sharp & Dohme.

Mr. Helfand has been serving as director of marketing for the parent company since 1968. He originally joined its Merck Sharp and Dohme division in 1952, working in marketing, economic research and planning capacities.

Anne Kathleen O'Brien, 1051 Kingston Road, the daughter of Mr. James L. O'Brien, has been named to the dean's list at Western Michigan University for Winter 1970.

Mr. Teller is author also of "Area Code 215: A Private Line in Bucks County," and "An Island Summer," the chronicle of a season on Martha's Vineyard. In "Cape Cod and the Offshore Islands," he describes early spring storms, the gradual coming of spring itself, the incursions of summer tourists and the way people live in the region year 'round.

The volume is illustrated with black and white photographs by Josephine Von Mikulos.

Marine Private First Class James D. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Smith, 167 Washington Road, is participating in the training exercise "Exotic Dancer III," with the Second Marine Division near Camp Lejune, N. C.

Building with Foresight.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

An astounding suggestion was made at the April meeting of the West Windsor Planning Board: That builders not be expected to obey the law requiring variation in housing developments, because this would raise the cost of housing. Princeton was cited as an example of the Golden Ghetto which would otherwise result.

I am confident that West Windsor is not about to grant licenses for evasion of a clearly written statute, but it is nevertheless important to emphasize that compliance with the statute would add a miniscule amount to the builder's actual cost.

What adds significantly to the price of houses is the price of raw land, and the present high costs of materials, labor and money.

Note that TOWN TOPICS regularly carries advertisements for plots in Princeton which sell for more than do new homes in West Windsor.

Houses in some parts of West Windsor sell for $5,$10,000 more than houses in other parts of the Township. These are structures which are physically similar in every way; in fact, the less expensive ones are often larger and built to more exacting specifications. The difference in price is referable to another factor: To the greater desirability of one location over the other.

The same meeting was told that the reason for the predominance of two-story colonials was that they offered the most house for the money. The two story colonial is an excellent buy, and is extremely popular in this part of the country. But its domination of our developments is very likely as much a result of the fact that builders like them as it is of public demand. (Since they sell for higher prices than most other types of house, leverage, and hence profit, tend to be larger.) Encouragement of the construction of ranches, hi levels, and split levels, in modern as well as traditional styles, would do far more to prevent "golden ghettoism" than would a lowering of standards.

The problem of standards has to be viewed in an unusually challenging context. West Windsor is a community yet in creation, but its physical qualities are going to be effectively shaped within the next few years.

We have the opportunity to set and enforce standards in the light of our aspirations for this community: once streets are laid out and buildings erected, most of that opportunity will be gone. Sewers can be laid later, and utilities can be buried, but a long street cannot be made to curve, and lots cannot be rearranged and buildings redesigned and moved about, no matter how great the demands of safety and aesthetics.

If 200 year old trees are cut down, they cannot be replanted; if a retail store is so planned that every square foot of space not under roof is needed for parking and roads, there will never be room in that "improvement" for any but token plantings of trees, shrubs and grass.

What may be surprising is that this kind of foresight and care is good for the pocketbook as well as for the spirit, because it makes a community attractive to residents and industry, present and future.

A Good Time at Charley's.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I had dinner at Good Time Charley's last Saturday night during the electricity blackout. They were without power for approximately four hours. The employees and management went out of their way to see that the patrons were happy. The meal was great!

Needless to say, the cooks were the heroes of the evening. The food was prepared under almost impossible conditions and the quality of the dinner was in no way impaired. It is certainly gratifying to see everyone crash through when the going is tough. I should like to take this opportunity to say "Well Done."

CAROLINE L. DINSMORE
168 Nassau Street

Hart Ave. Widening Opposed.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

National Earth Week could not be celebrated by four families in Hopewell this year. To us it was a week of heart break and outrage.

The Borough of Hopewell proposes to "improve" Hart Avenue, which runs behind one of our properties and in front of the other three families' homes. It connects upper Route 518 and North Greenwood Avenue; there are no other cross streets for its entire length. Improvement is interpreted to mean widening the street to 30 feet, in such a way as to substantially lower or completely destroy property values for four small land owners.

In the writer's case, 36 trees or shrubs will be destroyed, a one- to eight-foot terrace containing about 2000 tiger lilies will be filled in and blacktopped; part of that same terrace is so thickly planted with flowers in the grass that people stop their cars to dream a little while. And many of the more than 52 kinds of birds which summer, winter or spend the entire year with us will lose their homes. Next door are a retired couple.

The widened road will come within ten feet of their front door; again, a deep terrace, completely planted with flowers and shrubs, will be filled in. Beyond them are two families with several children each. The widening of Hart will take away the one mature tree they share and all of the young trees they have planted and tended with such love.

In each case, the life savings and efforts of hard working Americans will be destroyed to "improve" a little-used road which leads no where and is completely contained within residential land — except for that portion which lies across from the four families described; that is a cow pasture. And the 1932 survey map shows a right of way for the road through the cow pasture equal to the right of way through our lands . . .

. . . As late as last summer, two families were promised by a high Borough official that our land would never be disturbed by any improvement of Hart Avenue. Now we are told "early in 1971"; I should not be surprised to find our trees down tomorrow evening. The last "improvement," to the central portion of Hart, was pushed through in spite of the expressed disapproval, by petition and voice, of more than 90 percent of the people affected. . . .

. . . We have no place to run to, we who chose a rural community in which to live, so that we could get away from highways, congestion, noise, pollution. So we will stand and fight.

And we will also ask questions:

Why must a rural road through a residential neighborhood be widened at the expense of state and municipal taxpayers, when the residents do not want it widened?

Why must that road be widened, when the total traffic flow does not justify it, when the road has no cross roads to serve and few streets or half-streets (dead-end half blocks) leading from it?

Why use state and municipal tax monies to raze trees and fill in properties, when an equal right of way exists through a cow pasture in the same area?

Why destroy the properties, even the life work, of four families, when that cow pasture is a very small portion of an enormous holding?

FOUR ARE NAMED

To Staff of CAPA Jacqueline and Harry Rubel, directors of CAPA, the Center for Creative and Performing Arts, have announced the appointment of Mrs. Robin Quigley, Mrs. Johanna Throm, Patrick Arvonio and Thomas Morello to the staff of the summer day school.

Mrs. Quigley of Highland Park was a physical education teacher in Highland Park High School. She is a graduate of the University of North Carolina where she majored in Dance. She has served as Dance Director at C.A.P.A for the past five years.

Mrs. Throm, also of Highland Park is presently teaching at Rutgers Prep in Somerset. She received her B.A. in English from Douglass in 1963 and took a post graduate year in drama, majoring in Creative Dramatics under Dr. Nancy Swotzell.

Pat Arvonio, graduated from Penn State University in 1967 after 3 years of study with a B.S. in English Education. While at Penn he wrote, directed and performed in numerous plays. Currently, he is an English and drama teacher at Sayreville Memorial High School.

Thomas Morello, teaches at Piscataway High School. In addition to teaching drawing, painting, printmaking and advertising art at the high school, he also teaches at the Newark School of Fine Arts. He graduated with honours from Jersey City State College in 1966 where he received a B.A. in Art Education.

At this time, Mrs. Rubel announces that there are a limited number of openings in several age groups. The summer program emphasizes instruction in all the arts in combination with an outdoor recreation program.

RED CROSS COURSE SET

In Water Safety Instruction. The Princeton Chapter of the American Red Cross will offer a Water Safety Instructor Course at the Princeton Community Pool in two parts beginning Monday

Part I will be held Monday, June 1, to Friday, June 5 from 9 to noon, and Part II will begin Monday, June 8, and continue through Friday, June 12, from 3 to 6.

Persons 17 or older, who have passed the Red Cross Senior Life Saving course within the last three years are eligible. Thirty hours are required for the course and examination. Mrs. Joan Deichmann and Robert Clotworthy will teach the course.

Red Cross Water Safety Instructors whose certificates expired December 31, 1969 may renew by attending Part II only. Registration may be made by calling the Red Cross, 924 2404

100 FAMILIES SOUGHT

As Hosts for Ghetto Kids. The Fresh Air Fund has set a goal of 100 area families in this summer's effort to give tenement children from New York a two-week vacation from city life.

Mrs. William P. Howe and Mrs. William C. Groth, heading the Mercer County committee, said letters of re-invitation have been mailed to the 85 families in the area who had youngsters under last year's program. The chairmen hope to add at least fifteen more.

The children will arrive by Penn Central at Princeton Junction on June 30, or July 14, depending on the host family's preference.

The children are originally selected by social service agencies in New York, but some are repeatedly invited back by families in succeeding years. Last year, the Fresh Air Fund placed some 14,000 New York youngsters, aged 5 to 12, in homes from Maine to Virginia

Mercer county families have participated for the past 15 years in the efforts, but the Fresh Air Fund actually dates its activities back 93 years. The Fund supplies transportation, medical exams, insurance, and coordination between host committees and the New York social agency.

Mrs. Groth warned that if families intend to specify a particular child, they must return the mailed cards immediately, or it may be too late to locate the youngster

Persons interested in sharing summer with a child, or contributing time or money to the work of the Fresh Air Fund should contact either Mrs. Howe at 924 6721, of Mrs. Groth at 737-0222.

STUDENTS TO HELP

In Summer Program The Martin Luther King Summer Program of the Princeton Regional Schools will begin July 6, and run five days a week through July 31.

Operating out of the John Witherspoon School from 8:30 to 12:30, the program will take elementary school children into the community regularly, for visits to museums, zoos, aquariums, historic sites, manufacturing plants, farms, parks, forests, seashores and sports events.

All children who will be in grades 1 to 5 in September are eligible to apply for the program. Parents should contact their elementary schools.

In addition, the program offers older children in grades 9 and 10 a change to work during July. A limited number of students will be hired as assistants to the adult leaders of the program, and they will be paid for their services. Inquiries should be made through school guidance counselors.

The summer school staff is currently meeting on Wednesday afternoons for planning and program development. After the selection of high school staff assistants has been made, they will be invited to help plan the activities of the summer.

MORE FACILITIES SOUGHT

For Recreation in Rocky Hill. A Citizens' Committee on Recreation has been formed in Rocky Hill to promote development of public recreational facilities in the Borough.

First action has been directed at having the Borough Council set up a recreation commission. At the last Council meeting, councilmen John Pettibone, Albert Robotti and Samuel Panicaro were selected to consult with the Citizens' Committee over the drafting of an ordinance to create such a commission.

It is expected, a spokesman said, that the ordinance will be ready for introduction at the Monday Council session. The Citizens' Committee has also approached the Rocky Hill School Board about possible use of school land for recreation. The Rocky Hill Community Group too, has expressed an interest in cooperating on recreational projects for the Borough.

PRIDE . . .
The Essential Ingredient

We speak of that certain pride, now so rare, which our forefathers must have known as they beheld the fine and useful results of their creativity.

We at Cane Farm make and sell a number of products . . . furniture in artfully simple, beautifully crafted early American re-creations (or made to your own specifications if you wish) . . . carpeting and fabric proud in their vintage traditions. Even a restoration service is offered for the old pieces you treasure . . . including the chairs that need caning and rushing.

All this we sell . . . but the one commodity that has no price is the pride in our creativity . . . for this is the essential ingredient in all we do. Yet this pride with which we cannot part can become both yours and ours . . . as happens when people of like minds enjoy the re-creation of a magnificent heritage.

NCAA BASEBALL HERE

First Games Thursday. Four of the east's top college baseball teams will begin play here Thursday to determine the NCAA District II champion. The winner will enter the College World Series the week of June 8 in Omaha which, incidentally, no team from this district has ever won.

Facing each other on Clarke Field at 2:30 will be Seton Hall (17-5), the Metropolitan Conference champion, and Rutgers, whose record is 16-5 after deletion of losses incurred on a southern trip in March. At the same hour on adjacent Struhing Field, Delaware (19-6), the Middle Atlantic Conference champion, will face Penn State (14-5).

Missing from action, of course, is Princeton, which won more games than any of the contestants: 20 out of 28. The Tigers were barred from consideration because Dartmouth, the Eastern League champion, was selected in District 1 and NCAA regulations prohibit two teams being chosen from the same conference.

Captains of the ten teams in the league are signing a petition asking that the championship have "unofficial" status, and that it not be taken into consideration when NCAA selections are made. There is little likelihood, however, that NCAA officials in Kansas City will listen. They have not made a habit of doing so when eastern colleges — the Ivy League in particular — express an opinion, and can hardly be expected to listen to a group of seniors whose careers are about to end.

Seton Hall the Choice. If a favorite can be named in a sport as uncertain as college baseball, it is probably Seton Hall, off its strong pitching. The Pirates bested a standout team in St. John's in a two out of three series for their conference title, and regularly attract major league scouts interested in their personnel.

Seton Hall's coach is Owen Carroll, one-time pitcher for the Cincinnati Reds and other major league teams. When he was an undergraduate at Holy Cross, he and the late Charlie Caldwell hooked up in a series of spectacular pitching duels on University Field.

Penn State, possessor of the lowest won-loss record, may be the weakest of the four teams chosen. So much, however, depends on pitching that if the Nittany Lions are strong in that department, it could be they will make a strong run for the District II title.

Winners of the games Thursday will face each other Friday at 12 noon, as will Thursday's losers. The teams which then have .500 records will play a second game Friday afternoon to determine which of them will face the team which has won its first two games. That contest is set for 1 p.m. Saturday. If the team with a 2-0 record wins, it will become the champion but if it is beaten, a second game will be played Saturday before the winner is named.

All of this is somewhat complicated for the uninitiated, but it is, in fact, merely the process of permitting each team to remain in the tournament until it has lost twice. By the time one team has either a 3-0 record or a 3-1 record, every one of the other three will have been beaten twice.

In the event of rain on any of the three days, the tournament schedule is postponed 24 hours.

HE'S NOW A BUFFALO BRAVE: John Hummer has signed to play with Buffalo, one of the National Basketball Association expansion teams, next season. Three other Princeton alumni will also be with the NBA. Story, this page.

HUMMER SHUFFLES OFF ...

To Buffalo. John Hummer, who spent two months weighing offers from the New York Nets of the ABA and Buffalo of the NBA, has signed with the latter franchise, one of three new ones which will join the circuit next season.

Carl Scheer, Buffalo president, said that the Princeton senior has signed "a multiple-year contract" but that terms would not be announced. With the Nets bidding for Hummer's services, it is believed that he has settled for a sum in six figures.

Hummer joins his co-captain, Jeff Petrie, in the NBA, the latter having signed shortly after he was drafted by Portland. He, too, had been sought by the Nets, which Hummer turned down after they had negotiated with Miami for his draft rights.

An All Ivy choice for two seasons, Hummer averaged 17.5 points last winter and pick-ed off 138 rebounds. He stands 6-8and is a fine defensive player for a big man.

Joe Heiser, who played as a senior when Hummer and Petrie were sophomores, has signed with the Phoenix Suns. Bill Bradley will begin his fourth year with the world champion New York Knicks.

If the other three make it next season, will Bradley be the first of the four Princeton alums to leave the NBA? His contract with the Knicks runs out at the end of the 1971 season, and there has been speculation that he may follow a different career.

We didn't make it any easier to look at. Just easier to drive.

You'd never know it to look at it, but that's a Volkswagen without a clutch pedal.

What it does have is something called an automatic stick shift. "Automatic" because you can drive it up to 55 mph without shifting at all. "Stick shift" because you shift it when you go over 55. Once.

And that's just to help you save gas. (In keeping with a grand old Volkswagen tradition.)

As a matter of fact, this Volkswagen still gives you 25 miles to the gallon. It still takes only an occasional can of oil. And it still won't go near water or antifreeze.

If it were anything but a Volkswagen, you'd probably pay dearly for all this luxury.

Instead, a Volkswagen with an automatic stick shift costs a mere $1,978*

All of which reinforces what we've been saying for 20 years.

Looks aren't everything.

PHS WINS TEAM TITLE

In County Tennis Match. Princeton High School won the team championship of the Mercer County Tennis Tournament held last weekend at the County indoor courts.

The doubles finals was all PHS, Bill Schmidt and Laurie Bloom defeating teammates Bill Tobolsky and Steve Ettinghausen. In the singles championship match, Steve Tobolsky, a sophomore at Lawrenceville School and Bill's younger brother, was defeated by Steve Bash of Princeton Day School.

In semi final matches, Tobolsky defeated Robbie Sonnenschein, number one singles player for PHS, and Bash defeated Danny Thompson. Thompson is the number two singles player for the Little Tigers.

Last week, PHS defeated Ewing, 5-0, Franklin 4½-½, and New Brunswick, 4-1. Coach Bill Humes turned the latter into a jayvee match because his varsity players were participating in the county tournament.

Against Franklin, PHS lost a sweep when the doubles match involving Tobolsky and Ettinghausen had to be called for darkness. After spliting the first two sets, the teams battled to a 9-9 tie in the third before it was called.

FINAL GAME MONDAY

For PHS Baseball Team. The Princeton High School baseball team will play its final game of the season at home Monday against Hunterdon Central. Starting time is 3:45.

The beleaguered Little Tigers came within three outs last week of winning their first game of the season against visiting Trenton but instead lost their 13th when the Tornadoes rallied for two runs in the last inning to win, 8-7.

Joe Demeglio, who came on to pitch the last inning, was the victim of the THS rally and was charged with the defeat, his fifth. Trenton combined two hits, three solen bases and an error for the decisive two runs.

Through the first five innings, THS had hit starter Don Croby hard, scoring five runs on six hits, half of them for extra bases. Jeff Haring, pitching only the second time after being sidelined by a sore arm and spike injury for most of the season, worked the sixth.

Bobby Scott greeted him with his third straight hit. However, PHS came up with a double play when Haring got the next batter swinging on a third strike and Scott was thrown out stealing, catcher John Hodges to second baseman Ray Pettus.

Haring faltered when his next 12 pitches were balls and THS catcher Gary Scartocci doubled home the visitors' sixth run. After another free pass, Haring fanned Skip Scott on a 3-2 pitch.

One Inning, 31 Pitches. "That's a big one," said PHS coach Harry Zoll from the bench. Altogether, Haring threw 31 pitches in the inning he worked — "enough for four or five innings," Zoll commented.

Held hitless by Trenton's Jim Marshall through the first four innings, PHS scored a pair in the fifth. A walk to LouJohn Rossi and infield hits by Mark Anderson and Walt Dimitruk loaded the bases. Rossi and Anderson scored when THS second baseman Harold Neil threw wildly past first after knocking down Crosby's hard grounder.

After Pettus opened the PHS sixth with a walk, Trenton ran into real trouble. PHS parlayed a hit by Jeff Bannon, walks and errors for five runs, four of them unearned. That made the score 7-6 and the jubilant Little Tigers were knocking on the door only to have Trenton slam it shut again in the last inning.

PDS ENDS AT .500

In Baseball. Two losses in its last two games dimmed the lustre a bit, but could not change what was the best baseball season for Princeton Day School since it began playing varsity ball in 1967. The Panthers captured second place in the Day Division of the Penn Jersey League and finished 6-6 over all.

Against Friends Central last Tuesday in a make-up of a rained out game, the Blue and White suffered a let down and dropped an 8-3 decision. Taking a 2-1 lead into the fourth PDS fell apart, giving up five runs. The team was guilty of nine errors in the game.

Carl Rosenberg and Terry Booth each had two hits, while Dave Seckel blasted a double. Claghorn started and was relieved by Peter McCandless.

The Panthers also led Peddie in the early going, 2-0, but another five-run inning turned things around. Carl Jacobelli with two hits, including a triple, and Rosenberg with a pair

What kind of world are you inheriting?

A world full of problems? Or a life full of promise?

It all depends on you, and how you approach your life.

If you look at things from a strictly materialistic point of view, you may be discouraged.

But the greatest achievements have usually been made by those who approached life from a spiritual basis, with a firm conviction in the power and the goodness of God.

Christian Science can help your teen-agers find this kind of conviction. They are welcome in our Sunday School every Sunday.

of hits, drove in all PDS runs in the 7-3 defeat. Claghorn again started, relieved by Seckel and McCandless.

The unfortunate finish does not dim the prospects for next year, however. Coach John Ivors will lose only co-captain Jim Rodgers at first base from his small but experienced squad. From this vantage point it appears the Panthers will definitely be contenders for the Day Division title again.

In balloting among coaches for the all league team, Claghorn was selected as the first team pitcher, while Terry Booth and Rosenberg were named to the second team as catcher and outfielder respectively. Claghorn and Jacobelli have been elected co-captains for next year.

PHS QUALIFIES FOUR

For Conference Track Meet. Four members of the Princeton High School track team finished third or better at the South Jersey Divisional meet held Saturday at Ewing to qualify for the Central Jersey Group 3 Conference Championship that will be held Tuesday at John F. Kennedy High School in Iselin.

They are Lawrence Parker and Bill Beachell who finished second and third in the javelin, Paul Riddell who came in second in the high hurdles and Joe Bolster who finished in a dead heat with Jim Welch of Steinert for second place in the mile. Hamilton won the team title with 70 points, topping favored Ewing which had 58 for third place. Steinert claimed second place with 59½ points, Trenton fourth with 29, while PHS was fifth with 17½.

The Little Tiger mile relay team of Don Owens, Phil White, Steve Pelliny and Scott Dougall just missed taking a third place. Their time of 3:36 was less than three seconds behind the 3:33.3 clocking posted by the winning quartet from Hamilton.

State Sectional Saturday. On Saturday, the state sectional meet will be held at Cherry Hill West High School. Entrants are based on qualifying times and only the top performers from each team will participate.

The top three survivors will go on to compete in the state meet to be held next Saturday, which this year will be held in two locations. Group 4, of which PHS is a member: Group 1 and Parochial A will compete at Highland Park High School. Groups 2, 3 and Parochial B will compete at Rutgers Stadium, traditional site of the state meet.

Lawrence High Wins. Last week, the Little Tigers, who have only one victory under their belts this season, lost another close meet to Lawrence High School, 68-58.

Two on the PHS team recorded their best efforts of the season. Ron Rhodes became the first Little Tiger to better 20 feet when he jumped 20-1½ in the broad jump. Richie Jackson cleared 5-8 in the high jump, his best, but had to settle for second place.

Don Kruse set a new Lawrence High School record in the 880 with a clocking of 2:07.2. The PHS school record in the same event is 1:59.6 set by Joe Stonaker in 1950. It is the longest standing PHS track record.

Scott Dougall, Mel Franklin and Doug Westover finished 1-2-3 in the 440 for a PHS sweep but Lawrence nullified this by sweeping the discus and pole vault. Lawrence Parker won the javelin and shot put for PHS and Riddell won both hurdle events. Bolster won the mile.

In the two mile where PHS has fared poorly all season, Lowell Johnson reversed things somewhat by taking second place.

HUN NINE ENDS 8-5

Only Four Depart. Only four players will depart from the Hun School baseball team which ended its season with an 8-5 record.

They are first baseman Mike Rossi and second baseman Dick Embley, co-captains; shortstop Scott Rasdan and pitcher Mike Maguire. "We'll have a very good nucleus coming back," said Hun coach Dave Leete. Heading the list will be veteran pitchers Rick Ziegler and Bob Roby.

Hun was forced to cancel its final game with Perkiomen last week after rain had made its low lying field unplayable. Perkiomen had already clinched the prep school division of the Penn Jersey League.

TROPHY WINNER: Ricky Weidel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Weidel of Harbourton, receives a plaque for his ski racing ability. It is being presented by Ernest H. Below of the Belle Mountain Ski Club.

Brochures are available from the instructors, and from Hinkson's, the University Store, and the recreation office in Township Hall, Route 206. Information is available from Mrs Akira Asano, at 921-2182.

YOUNG SKIER HONORED

By Belle Mountain Club. At a recent banquet members of the Belle Mountain Ski Club presented a special award to Ricky Weidel, 13, in recognition of his exceptional record of competition during the 1969-70 ski racing season.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard A Weidel of Harbourton, he was state slalom champion for his age group, and he won five out of nine racing events he entered, placing second in the remainder.

His record was good enough to put him on the New Jersey State Team, and also on the Western Regional team as first alternate to the Eastern Regional Team.

A seventh grader at Timberlane School, Ricky received his award from Ernst H. Below, chairman of the Belle Mountain Club awards committee.

STICKMEN LOSE, 5-3

To George School. Its ranks depleated by injuries, the Princeton High School lacrosse team almost caught George School Saturday but fell short, losing its fifth in a row, 5 3.

The Little Tigers (3-10) were scheduled to play their 14th and last game of the season Wednesday at Montclair.

After home team George School had taken a 3 0 halftime lead, PHS clawed back to within one, 4 3, on goals by Phil Nollner, Mitchell Schoch and Mike McConnell. That was as close as they came, however.

"We've been suffering so long from injuries," said coach Marvin Trotman, who had to go with a lot of jayvee players against George School. "We've had our share of bad luck," he said, adding, "It's been a very frustrating season."

TENNIS BALLS NEEDED

By Community Program. The Community Tennis Program is making an urgent appeal for used tennis balls; hundreds are needed immediately for the classes, which handle about 1,000 students a week.

The supply of balls has dwindled because neighborhood children and nearby baseball players pick up stray balls, thinking they are discards. Parents of children who live or play near the High School or Community Park are asked to explain the problem to their children, and ask for youngsters' cooperation in throwing back all balls found, regardless of condition.

Even though students donate many balls each year, making up for the lost ones takes hundreds of dollars annually out of the Community Program operating fund. This money could otherwise be spent on scholarships.

Any ball donations will be greatly appreciated. They may be left at the Recreation Office above Township Hall on Route 206, or given to the instructors at Community Park.

BOWLING NOTES

League Crowns Decided. The last pin of league competition has fallen at the Princeton Recreation Lanes on Nassau Street until resumption in September.

In the Business Women's League, second half champion University Cleaners defeated Nassau Conover, first half winners, two games to none. High for University Cleaners with a 176 was captain Dail Forsyth, who two weeks earlier had rolled a 235. Her 255 was tops in the league this season in which an unusually high number of 200 games were rolled by the women.

For the losers, Beverly Kiss' 166 was the high game.

Last week, No. 1 defeated No. 3, two games to none, for the championship of the Tri County Firemen's League. Jack Petrone with a 206 215 was high for No. 1. Also rolling for No. 1 were Bill Whatley, Skitch Donald, Walt Coan, Bucky Cupples and John Cashill.

Mike Kopliner, Bill Duvall, George Pierre, Frank Maddalon and Tom Johnson competed No. 3.

In other league rolloffs held earlier this month, Princeton Aviation defeated Tiger Garage, 2 0, for the championship of the Nassau League, and Princeton Inn topped Ivy Inn for the right to wear the crown in the A League.

The latter went three games. Ivy Inn, which had postponed the rolloff a week when it collided with the N.Y. Knicks-L.A. Lakers championship game, won the first, 831 771. Princeton Inn came back to win the second, 913 878 and then won the deciding game by nine pins, 890 881.

Joe Baldino was high for Princeton Inn with a 213. Joe Roberto, chef at the soon-to-be erased Inn, rolled 189 168 182, all bettering his 159 average. Others on the team were Les Gibbs, Vince Tufano and Frank Delneso.

Jim Kahny of Ivy Inn was high for the losers with a 212. Others on the team were Harry Kahny, Sam Lisi, Bill Murphy, Jack Petrone and Don Snyder

PHS TRACKMEN STUNG

By Hamilton Hornets. The Princeton High School track team engaged in its 12th and final meet of the season Monday and the outcome was the same as in eleven others: it lost to visiting Hamilton, 89½ - 36½.

For PHS, Joe Bolster won his speciality the mile. Bruce Wright captured the long jump and Scott Dougall triumphed in the 440 with a clocking of 53.5. Lawrence Parker and co-captain Bill Beachell finished 1-2 in the javelin with throws of 181 6 and 160 10¾ respectively. Paul Riddell, the other co-captain, took second in the high hurdles with a 16.5 effort.

Hamilton, winner of the South Jersey Divisional Meet Saturday at Ewing, swept the discus and pole vault, in winning its ninth dual meet against two setbacks. Its highly touted Bob Harris won the 100 in 10 2 and the 220 in 23.2.

State and conference meets next week will wind up what has been a very long season for coach Larry Ivan and the Blue and White.

CITIES SERVICE 4 0

In Business Softball. A victory by Cities Service, coupled with a loss suffered by previously unbeaten Hopewell TV, left the former in sole possession of first place in the western division of the Business Softball League last week, with a 4 0 mark.

Jim Wiedenhaefer paced Cities with four hits, including two four baggers, to a 13 6 win over RCA Astro. Al Anderson, Jim Chlorello and Alex Golembeski had three hits apiece, and Don Giord had two hits, one a home run. Rick Miller and Jeff Eldridge had three hits each for Astro.

Hopewell TV got bumped off by a strong RCA A team, 20 4. Don Pultorak, Ron Infanti, Ed Krieger, Mel Sanders and Joe Santosusso led the RCA attack with three hits each. The win left RCA tied for second with Hopewell and NCA which drew a bye, all with 2 1 marks.

In the eastern division, winless ETS rose up and dumped Accelerator, 0 5, giving the latter's title hopes a jolt. Winning pitcher Jerry Kramer had three hits for ETS, one a two bagger. Ron Hunter and Bill Degler each had a pair. Barry Hibbs and Tom Wonderbch led Accelerator.

Joe Bolster

Shearer Tree Service also won its first, 6 5, over American Cyanamid. Firmenich beat Shell, 11 8, while ERC and McGraw Hill and RCA B and FMC were rained out and were to be replayed this week.

PDS ENDS SEASON

In Lacrosse. A pair of losses to superior foes ended the lacrosse season for Princeton Day School last week. The team's final record was 4 7.

Trying for its second upset in a row over Hun, the Panthers came close, but could not put the ball in the net when it counted and lost 4 2. PDS had early leads in the first half, but could not find the range. Deebs Young and John Gordon scored.

Against Penn Charter on Friday, PDS led at the half, but the visitors rebounded in the third and fourth periods to take a 5 2 verdict. Tim Smith and Tom O'Connor got the PDS goals.

Coach Clint Wilkins loses three fine seniors in defenseman Lew Bowers, midfielder Young and attackman Bob Sal up, but has a good nucleus of experienced players returning next year, as the Panthers seek their first winning season in the sport.

DOGS GRADUATE

Dachshund Wins Two Prizes. Dunkel, a Dachshund owned by Linda Miller of Blawenberg, won two trophies when the spring graduation exercises were held last week by the Princeton Dog Training Club. He was first in the Beginners' Division and also won the Junior Handlers' Award for owners under 16.

Jane Senich, 43 Spring Street, placed second among the Beginners with her Poodle, Fifi. Third place went to Joker, a Malamute owned by Leonard Pierson of 28 Taylor Road, while fourth place was won by Kathleen McMahon of Somerset with her Irish Setter, Macushla. John Miller of Princeton was the judge.

In the Intermediate Division, the winner was Rufus, a St. Bernard owned by Lisa H Palinko of East Brunswick. The runner up was Abe, a Rottweiler owned by Sue Rademacher of Cranbury

Mrs. A. L. Moffat, 2 Pheasant Hill Road, placed third with her Great Dane, Bryon, while fourth place went to Pepsicola, an American Fox Hound owned by Monty Schley 1000 Kingston Road. The judge was James Moneur of Kendall Park. More than 2000 dogs have been trained by the club since it was organized in 1952.

PHS TIES HAMILTON

Steinert Here Thursday. Princeton High School and Hamilton battled to a seven-inning, 1-1 tie Tuesday at Hamilton before rains brought the game to a halt.

The tie was the Little Tigers' second of the season and left them with a 0 13-2 record. They have two chances left to win that first one.

Steinert will be here Thursday at 3:45 in the rescheduling of a contest that was postponed Monday because of wet grounds.

Five Little Tigers singled in the Hamilton game: Bob Bruschi, Jeff Bannon, Jeff Grover, John Hodges and pitcher Joe DeMeglio. Dr Meglio was seeking his first win in six starts. Hamilton ended its season with a 6 10-2 record.

Pierson and Paine Win

Kester Pierson and Bill Paine won the Curtis W. McGraw Memorial Tournament, held last weekend at Springdale Golf Club. Using 65% of their handicaps, they shot net scores of 63-69-132, getting off to a strong lead over the first 18 holes Saturday when each player required only 25 putts.

Edged out by one stroke was the team of Kenneth Dowes Jr. and Hal Moran, who earned runner up honors with a 133. Jack Sweeney and Bob Shillaber finished third with 135, while fourth place went to Dick Thompson and Bill Shafer.

The annual Member Guest Tournament will be held this weekend. The qualifying round is set for Friday morning, with flights of eight teams competing Saturday and Sunday.

We Support Charlie Meyer

We are proud of the Republican Party's record of achievement in Princeton Township. The progressive leadership exercised by Mayor Jack Wallace, Bill Wilson and Dean Chace must be continued.

We see in the candidacy of Charlie Meyer an opportunity to ensure that such leadership will be continued and further that imaginative programs will be developed to meet the needs of an expanding Princeton Township. It is significant that Jack Wallace, Bill Wilson and Dean Chace agree with this view and have enthusiastically endorsed the candidacy of Charlie Meyer for Township Committee.

We believe Charlie Meyer is the strongest available Republican candidate in a year when control of the Township Committee is at stake. Although a newcomer to politics, his business acumen, interest in our youth, sound judgment and fresh approach indicate clearly that his nomination and election to the Township Committee would advance the cause of good local government.

We strongly urge all Republicans and Independents eligible to vote in the Republican Primary on June 2nd to support Charlie Meyer for Township Committee.

RCA RECEIVES CONTRACT

For Four TV Systems. New Jersey Public Broadcasting Authority has awarded RCA a contract for approximately $3,300,000 to supply complete transmitting systems for the four new TV broadcasting locations the Authority will open, beginning this fall.

The major items in the award, according to E. C. Tracy, division vice president of RCA Broadcast Systems Sales, are four high power UHF television transmitters, four broadcast antennas, two 900-foot towers and two 500-foot towers.

Sites of the four broadcasting locations will be near Trenton (Channel 52); New Brunswick (Channel 19); Atlantic City (Channel 18); and Montclair (Channel 77). The Trenton station will be the first to broadcast beginning in the early fall.

A production center complex in Trenton will contain two studios and a master control and distribution facility. It is being equipped with color TV cameras, TV tape recorders, color film originating systems, audio and switching equipment under an earlier contract given to RCA for approximately $2 million.

The Authority has begun to recruit a program production and technical staff. One of the color studios is operational and the second studio, along with the control and switching systems, will be finished by June 15.

The four transmitting systems will be engineered to provide TV coverage for nearly all of New Jersey's 7½ million population, Mr. Tracy said.

WIRES, TREES DOWNED By Saturday Storm. A violent rain storm leveled trees and limbs and knocked out power in a section of Princeton Township Saturday.

Power was out in the eastern section of the Township (Shadybrook, Clearview, Snowden Lane, etc.) from 6:10 p.m. until it was restored about four hours later. Police also reported trees down on Leigh Avenue and Mercer Street and high water conditions on Locust Lane.

In the Borough, trees were down in front of 16, 22 and 41 Moore Street; limbs on Maclean Street. A utility pole with a transformer was snapped on Bayard Lane just north of Hodge Road and held upright by a guy wire. A tree limb fell and dented a passing Volkswagen at the location, police said.

A high tension wire was down at 16 Harrison Street. Opposite the Borough garage on Harrison, high tension wires dipped almost to the ground. During the storm, the traffic light at Rosedale and Elm refused to work properly, police added.

GRADES MEETING CALLED With Middle School Staff. The Board of Education is scheduled to meet Tuesday with the faculty of the Middle School to hear the teachers' case for giving up letter grades on report cards in favor of evaluation comments.

After many parents protested the abandonment of letter grades, the board announced last week that it will continue normal grading on Middle School report cards for the indefinite future; however, Everett Garrettson, a parent who has been leading the opposition to the evaluation proposals, says he still wants a public meeting before the board decides on anything new.

"I'd like notification in September of a meeting in October," he said. "An open, public meeting would be much better in the fall than now."

"We applaud the board's firm decision," he declared, "but we'd like a more formal statement."

NEW MEDIA SHOW SET By Youth Center Workshop. It looks like junk sculpture?

EXPERIMENTS with various art forms have been tried recently by the students of Princeton Youth Center, and they will hold an exhibit during the first two weeks of June. Here, David Grohman works with Mrs. Susan H. Jones, one of the workshop's directors.

Maybe ceramics? Or maybe bread. Whatever it is, high school students at the Youth Center Art Workshop have created it, in their experiments with varied art forms.

The Workshop is setting up an exhibit of some of the works on display Monday through Sunday, June 14. The public is invited to come by the newly redecorated center and look at the results of Workshop activities, after 3 on weekdays and after 2 on weekends.

Some of the better examples will be on sale. The Princeton Youth Center is located at 102 Witherspoon Street.

A MESSAGE TO YOU, THE VOTER,
FROM BILL CHERRY

I am running on Primary Day, June 2, for the Republican nomination for Princeton Township Committee. My purpose is to strengthen voter control of government.

● 1. This primary contest gives you a choice of candidates and policies this year. If successful, it will be a renewed precedent for initiating Township-level primary contests in future years, and give the voters ALWAYS their right to choose candidates and policies.

● 2. Public referendums will be promoted on the major, vital issues affecting the entire Township, to give the voters control of their own lives' decisions. Referendums should normally be held on regular election days. Of course, they should NOT be concerned with the innumerable technical, housekeeping and minor problems that occupy most of the Township Committee's agenda.

● 3. Regular attendance at Township Committee meetings and long concern for local activities have made me familiar with very many of the town's problems. These range from traffic danger spots, such as the pedestrian crossing of Washington Road; ecological and resources problems such as the gas pipeline damage, the major faults of our sewers and the variable quality of our drinking water; zoning, housing, and building lot questions such as the harm of L-shaped lots; the question of obtaining the revenue and service advantages of a community antenna television system and by no means last, the problems of our youth. I would like to advance my ideas for solutions solely on behalf of you, the people who live here.

Vote for William H. Cherry for Princeton Township Committee.

The following night — last Wednesday, May 20 — the board held an executive session. few members will ever forget.

By that time, the "strike" at the high school had gone on for almost two weeks.

The board had asked faculty and student body each to elect a five-man committee to develop "strike" proposals. Both had done so. The two committees had met at length, separately and together, and had hammered out two sets of proposals which were offered to the board for discussion.

But parents who were upset at the "strike" had been on the phone with board members. Three members of the board —Winthrop Pike, Philip Cruickshank and Kathleen Edwards — had released a public statement opposing continuation of the "strike," and stating that they could not condone the way the "strike" had been handled. They also expressed their support of Miss Burke.

Almost without discussion, according to report, the board lowered the boom on the "strike," banning public events, workshops during school hours and, in the words of board president John Marks, "slamming the door."

Split Vote. Mr. Pike, Dr. Cruickshank, Mrs. Edwards, Henry Powsner and William Marvel voted to terminate the strike. Dr. Marks, Evelyn Geddes and William Abrams opposed them. Robert Bierman was not present at this meeting.

Wednesday's meeting was marked by strong opposition to Dr. McPherson from Mr. Marvel — some observers have even used the word "attack." Previously, Mr. Marvel had been known as a supporter of the superintendent.

He has declined to tell board or public the specific reasons for his opposition, except to say, "Any board member has to make up his own mind on things as he sees them, and this I have done."

Late that Wednesday night, after the strike vote, the board voted 5-2 to appoint Miss Burke principal. Voting for the appointment were Mr. Pike, Dr. Cruickshank, Mrs. Edwards, Dr. Powsner and Mr. Marvel.

Mrs. Geddes, who had previously said she would leave at midnight, had gone. Dr. Marks and Dr. Abrams voted "No."

Students "Betrayed." The following day — last Thursday — students were informed of the board's no-"strike" decision by Dr. Marks and Dr. Abrams, who went to the high school to make the announcement. Dr. Powsner accompanied them.

The students were angry. Many said they felt betrayed because they had been led to believe, by the board, that a serious proposal from them, and the faculty, would be the basis for discussion.

About 100 students walked out and held a rump meeting outdoors. High school administrators would not let them use the public-address system. When they tried to get bull horns from the gym, they found the bull horns locked up.

Hoping for support from students who hadn't walked out, they tried to send delegates back into the school to visit classrooms. Members of the staff refused to let delegates back into the building.

During the outdoor meeting, one University undergraduate spectator said, "Burn this place down!"

Glen Stanley, PHS student who chaired the original May 5 student meeting and was a member of the original "strike" group, turned on the undergraduate and shouted, "This school is our blood and guts and it's OUR school, and what we want is the best school we can and the best education we can have!"

"Hard Line" Regretted. Meanwhile, students were confronting Dr. Marks and Dr. Powsner. As board president, Dr. Marks was spokesman, but he said to one student, "The board inexcusably took a hard line," and he admitted that when the vote was taken, some board members felt strongly that "this was not the way to proceed."

That night — Thursday — a group of about 25 parents, five high school staff members and five students decided on a campaign "to get information out into the community" and to let board members know their position, pro administration stand. The group has been led by Mrs. J. P. Cleaver and Mrs. George Fremon, a former board member.

Over the weekend, two pressure streams began to run in their courses. Board members who favor one side refer to the tactics of the other as, somehow, sinister. But the simple fact is that two opposing pressure groups were simply letting board members and community know how they felt.

People were asked to circulate or sign petitions. They were asked to write or telephone board members. If your side was doing it, it was in a good cause. If "they" were doing it, it was bad.

According to Dr. Marks, the board has received about 100 letters and calls. Mr. Marvel reports about 20 letters, all pro-administration. Dr. Powsner says he got a pile "about three-quarter of an inch thick" on both sides.

Letter from Council. On Friday, the board received a letter signed by 22 members of the Administrative Council of the school system — principals, assistant principals, and so on. The 22 constitute almost the entire Council.

The letter was a general statement of concern about board procedure. What happens when a major administrative appointment is made without the recommendation of the person's superior? Where does accountability lie?

As Dr. Marks paraphrased it, the letter was really asking, "who's running the system — we administrators or the board? You hire us to run it, but then . . ."

Many board members, it is said, were very much affected by the letter. It mentioned no names, it did not touch personalities. It was simply a letter of inquiry to the board from the system's professionals. Dr. McPherson was not one of the signatories.

A board executive meeting Monday night was relatively tranquil, according to reports. Most of Tuesday's public meeting was devoted to students, although petitions were presented and statements made.

It's two weeks until the next board meeting, and although things seem calmer, this anguished community will probably see more before it sees less.

"The adults will get over it," comments Dr. Powsner. "The kids are the ones I'm concerned about."

A SUPERB

RAISED

RANCH

The colossal condition of this 4 bedroom residence is only a small part of what comprises the attractiveness of this dwelling. It has wall to wall carpeting throughout the hallways, living room, dining room and master bedroom. It has a cheery eat-in kitchen, 2½ baths, laundry room and utility room.

All this is overshadowed by the sensational stone fireplace in the bright family room. An oversized 2 car garage is another feature of this most attractive home.
